REINHAUS STORE TO BE NEW BANK'S LOCATION

Brothers To Retire From Business Here

Lease Purchased from Dry Goods Company and Extended 15 Years

NEGOTIATIONS completed today signal the retirement of Reinhaus Brothers, after 50 years of commercial life in Santa Ana, and location in the building at the southeast corner of Fourth and Bush streets of the Commercial National Bank of Santa Ana. The bank has purchased the lease held by Reinhaus Brothers and the period of its effectiveness has been increased by 15 years, through agreement with John Cubbon, owner of the property, it was announced today.

Col. S. H. Finley, chairman of the bank's organization committee, revealed that negotiations, which have been under way for some weeks, had been completed.

Move Out In 30 Days

Reinhaus Brothers, the oldest dry goods firm in the city, have agreed to turn possession of the room over to the bank management within 30 days. In the meantime it will dispose of its entire stock and fixtures. The bank now is having plans drawn for remodeling the room into a modern banking house, with the best of vaults and banking fixtures. The room has a frontage of 50 feet on East Fourth street and 100 feet depth along Bush street.

Finley said the room would furnish ample space for the financial institution and that it would be possible for the bank in the future to increase its facilities and service without being cramped for quarters.

It is probable that the bank will be open for business June 1, it was said.

The regrettable phase of this announcement from the bank's point of view is retirement of the pioneer firm of Reinhaus Brothers, Finley said.

In Business 50 Years
"They have been in business here for 50 years and the firm has been organized for 43 years. The firm name has been a synonym for high standards of merchandising and business ethics in Santa Ana."

Max, Julius and Gus Reinhaus came here as young men in 1875, to take charge of the Gilmaker store, then located on the southwest corner of Broadway and Fourth street, the store fronting on Broadway.

Velma West, who slew her husband with a hammer, today was sentenced to life in the Ohio state reformatory after pleading guilty to a charge of second degree murder.

OHIO HAMMER SLAYER GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

Velma West Enters Plea Of Guilty to Second Degree Murder

PAINESVILLE, O., March 6.—Velma West, Perry, O., housewife, who hammered her husband to death because of restrictions and inhibitions imposed by life in a small town, today prepared to leave for Marysville, O., reformatory, where she is under sentence to serve life.

Curiously happy even in the face of a prison sentence, the blonde slayer seemed changed but little from the time she was arrested in East Cleveland and confessed to the murder of her husband.

There were lines on her face but the traces of her once care-free attitude still were in evidence.

The plea of guilty to second degree murder and the sentence to life in prison came after long conferences between the court and opposing attorneys. Under the sentence the blonde slayer is eligible to parole at the end of 10 years.

"I don't think this is a time for talking," Judge Barnes said in passing sentence. "Your crime was a horrible and unthinkable one. This staid community was stirred by it. It was terrible. The mandate of the law must be fulfilled."

Tears that had been fought since early yesterday burst forth as Velma heard the sentence. Then her attitude changed entirely. She smiled.

"I am so happy," she said as she expressed a wish to be sent to Marysville at once.

'Exaggerated' Says S. A. Man Reported Dead

Victim of Desert Carried Card with Name of E. L. McCarter

E. L. McCARTER, who resides on Ritchie street, was alive today and engaged in his usual occupation of looking after the ranch property he occupies there.

This announcement is not strange, but it has the important angle of definitely repudiating the belief of officials in Bakersfield that a body found on the desert, near Mojave, last Saturday, was that of the Santa Ana man.

McCarter, like Mark Twain, said the report of his death was "exaggerated."

The body was found by W. L. Davis Jr., newspaperman of Tehachapi, about 14 miles east of Mojave. Davis found in a pocket of the trousers worn by the dead man a letter addressed to the recorder of Inyo county bearing the return address, "E. L. McCarter, Santa Ana."

In the opinion of officials, the man succumbed to the desert heat of last summer.

Some 15 months ago, McCarter wrote three letters to the recorder of Inyo county, the envelopes containing papers involved in the transfer by McCarter of 40 acres of land he owned in Inyo county to Raymond Foster, of Santa Ana.

McCarter today expressed the belief that the body is that of some man identified with the recorder's office, or who had access to the office.

LEAGUE TAKES UP PEACE PROPOSAL

BY HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

GENEVA, March 6.—Representatives of five world powers met here today to see whether American views of the proper form of anti-war treaty could be reconciled with obligations to aid each other already assumed by League of Nations members.

Aristide Briand, to whom, as French foreign minister, the latest U. S. note on the anti-war treaty had been sent, called the conference.

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—Mrs. Ada Watrous Collins, 32, said to be a Vassar graduate, leaped eight stories to her death on a crowded downtown street here today, according to police.

Tokio Epidemic Report Declared To Be Ridiculous

TOKIO, Japan, March 6.—Although many cases of influenza have been reported throughout Tokyo, the health section of the metropolitan police branded as ridiculous reports that a dangerous epidemic gripped the city.

Emperor Hirohito is suffering from a cold and his youngest daughter, Princess Hisa, was said to be seriously ill of a throat disease.

Extension Of House Terms Is Proposed

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, March 6.—An amendment to the Norris lame duck constitutional amendment, extending terms of house members from two to four years, will be presented by Representative Bankhead, Democrat, Alabama, he announced today during debate on the Norris amendment.

This amendment would make the house, like the senate, a continuous body with half of the membership elected every two years. Representative Gifford, Republican, of Massachusetts, objected that the proposed change might defeat the Norris amendment.

The Norris amendment would abolish the so-called "lame duck" session of congress and change the date of the beginning of congress and inauguration of the president to January.

The senate recently passed the resolution for the third time. This is the first time it has come before the house.

WARRANT FOR R. W. STEWART ARREST ISSUED

Standard Oil Chief Must Plead to Contempt Indictment

WASHINGTON, March 6.—A bench warrant for the arrest of Chairman Robert W. Stewart, of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, signed by Chief Justice McCoy of the District of Columbia supreme court, will be mailed to Chicago today, U. S. Attorney Peyton Gordon announced.

Under the warrant, the Rockefeller company head will be required to plead to the recent indictment charging him with contempt of the senate in refusing to answer questions of the senate Teapot Dome committee in connection with the Continental Trading company investigation.

Gordon said the warrant, with a certified copy of the indictment, would go to the U. S. marshal in Chicago and that the oil man's attorneys would notify him to appear to accept service at a time yet to be agreed upon. After service, Stewart's attorneys would post a bond and he would be directed to appear here for arraignment and pleading on the indictment.

EXPECT FOX' TRIAL TO END THIS WEEK

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—The conclusion of the trial of William Edward Hickman and Welby Hunt, jointly charged with the murder of Ivy Toms, by the end of the week was in prospect here today.

Three more psychiatrists still remained to testify for the state when the noon recess was taken and the defense announced that they would not call their alienists in rebuttal. This led to the belief that the case may be in the hands of a jury by Saturday.

Doctor Victor Parkin, who testified at the Parker trial, was the first alienist called today. He testified in substance that Hickman is sane.

'ROCKET HOPPER' HOPES TO DISCOVER RACE ON VENUS

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 6.—Robert Condit, proposed "rocket passenger" to the planet Venus, expects a "cordial reception when I get there," he said today.

Condit, an Ohio inventor, plans to take off from here when atmospheric conditions are "absolutely perfect." He will leave the earth in a huge rocket, propelled by explosives "more powerful than gunpowder."

"I believe there is a race on the planet similar to our own people," the inventor said.

"They may be even more advanced. I expect to find about the same conditions as here, although the climate may be hotter."

Condit revealed additional plans for his landing on Venus today as he groomed his torpedo-like craft. Two parachutes, now attached to his nose, will permit him to land "gracefully," he said.

He plans to open a turret of the rocket when a peep through a periscope reveals Venus is near, he said. He then will strap a parachute on his back and leap out.

PROPOSAL IS REJECTED BY 6 TO 5 VOTE

Tie in Frothingham Resolution Ballot Is Broken By Chairman Porter

FAVORED BY KELLOGG
Navy Secretary Advocated Move with Proviso That Other Nations Do Same

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The house foreign affairs committee went on record today against proposals to outlaw the submarine.

The committee voted 6 to 5 against a favorable report to the house on the Frothingham resolution designated to prohibit generally the house of submarines.

Secretary of State Kellogg, in a letter to the committee, had advocated the resolution with the proviso that other nations also would outlaw the submarines.

Chairman Porter broke a tie by voting against a favorable report.

The resolution reads:

"That it is the opinion of the congress of the United States that all nations of the world should unite in prohibiting the use of submarines and discontinuing the construction thereof in every country."

"That the government of the United States continue to use efforts to bring about these results."

Those voting for the resolution were:

Temple, Republican, Pennsylvania; Cole, Republican, Iowa; Cooper, Republican, Wisconsin; Moore, Democrat, Virginia; Bloom, Democrat, New York.

Opposing it with Porter were Hull, Republican, Illinois; Eaton, Republican, New Jersey; Gorrell, Republican, Oregon; Maas, Republican, Oregon.

'FAVORITE SON' CANDIDACIES WEIGHTY FACTORS IN CONTEST FOR CONTROL OF SOUTHWEST

By IRWIN I. FEMRITE
United Press Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 6.—Candidates of "favorite sons" in both major parties have become weighty factors in the contest among presidential candidates for control of southwestern delegates to the national convention. Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, was endorsed by the recent Missouri state Democratic convention and Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, was to receive the approval of the Kansas Republican convention in Wichita today.

A delegation of seven instructed to work for Curtis at the Kansas City convention was practically assured.

In Missouri, a three-cornered race continues between forces of former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, Secretary Herbert Hoover and Senator Curtis for control of delegates to the state Republican convention in St. Joseph, March 26. Lowden leaders assert they will control the St. Joseph convention. They base their assurance on the state-wide trend for the Illinoisan which they say is evident in all rural districts.

Sentiment in city precincts, however, remains uncertain with Lowden, Curtis and Hoover apparently about equally strong.

Republicans and Democrats in Nebraska each have a "favorite son" candidates in the field. Applicants for filing closed last week. Senator George W. Norris was the only Republican presidential candidate and Gilbert M. Hitchcock had a clear Democratic field.

Texas Republicans seemed divided, some favoring a state delegation instructed for Hoover and others advocating unaffiliated delegation. A possible split in the Texas Democratic camp was seen in the announcement that Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, would seek that party's nomination as a dry.

They left Mitchell field, after two months of waiting, at 11:35 p. m. last night.

Their flying time from Mitchell field to Havana was 13 hours, 59 minutes.

The plane circled the field twice before landing.

For Miss Boll the flight was the culmination of nine months' effort to crash into the long distance flying honors list. Last summer she tried to get Levine and other transatlantic flyers to try to fly back to the United States with her as a passenger. She decided finally to cross the Atlantic by steamer and start in America her career as a female Lindbergh.

The flight was Levine's second notable one in point of distance, although on an unsuccessful start on a world tour he got from England to central Europe.

Next to his flight with Chamberlain to Germany, Levine's most remarkable previous flight was the one he made alone—a novice as a pilot, from Paris to Croydon, England.

Probe Of Flyer's Death May Delay Carrier's Cruise

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The scheduled departure of the naval aircraft carrier Lexington from Hampton Roads March 8 on its shakedown cruise to the Pacific coast may be delayed a week or more by the inquiry into the recent death of its executive officer, Lt. Com. T. G. Elyson, the navy indicated today.

The Lexington is due on the west coast April 13 to participate in maneuvers in the battle fleet.

FLIGHT OF 1600 MILES
Miss Mabel Boll, 'Queen of Diamonds,' Passenger In Over-Water Journey

BY THOMAS ALLEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

COLUMBIA FLYING FIELD, HAVANA, March 6.—Charles A. Levine's Bellanca monoplane Columbia arrived here at 1:35 p. m. today, after a 1600-mile flight from Mitchell field, L. I.

With Levine in the famous plane — the one that Clarence Chamberlain and he flew to Germany — were Wilmer Stultz, pilot, and Miss Mabel Boll, of Rochester, N. Y., and Paris, France, called the "Queen of Diamonds" because of her jewel collection.

They left Mitchell field, after two months of waiting, at 11:35 p. m. last night.

Their flying time from Mitchell field to Havana was 13 hours, 59 minutes.

The plane circled the field twice before landing.

10 ARE INDICTED IN ISLAND FRAUD

HONOLULU, T. H., March 6.—Ten persons were under indictment today on charges of first degree conspiracy to defraud following a grand jury investigation of the confidence game worked on Thomas Needham, millionaire English chain drug store owner.

Among those against whom true bills were returned were John R. Kellett, former chief of detectives of Honolulu, and Mrs. Mary Golden, Mrs. Samuel Pierce and Mrs. Mary Wancke, three women recently arrested in the investigation of the swindle.

Needham, who stopped in Honolulu on a tour of the world, was induced by members of the confidence gang to put up $140,000 for a "sure thing" bet on horse races.

The Englishman met members of the gang in a Honolulu hotel and turned over the money. A moment later he was called from the room and, when he returned, the swindlers had vanished.

Neen, Minnesota; McReynolds, Democrat, Tennessee.

Opposing the resolution on the ground that the submarine is regarded as an essential defense to small nations, Porter said he felt the resolution was an empty gesture.

"We have no more right to ask France and Italy, for instance, to abolish their only means of defense on sea than they would have to ask us to abolish our only means of defense—the navy," he said.

"In asking them to abolish the submarine we are strengthening our own defenses by weakening theirs." Representative Hull, Illinois, suggested that "gestures which we can see in advance will not be responded to by foreign nations are a foolish thing."

He added that, if submarines are horrible, "we should find a means of settling disputes without war instead of trying to make it a parlor game."

Moore and Cooper defended the resolution.

two things—a lower tariff, which, he thinks, would bring more of an equality between the prices they pay for things they use and the prices they receive for their products, and rapid completion of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway, to give them lower freight rates.

"Radical Change"
He would seek to bring about what he calls a "radical change in our attitude toward and our relations with foreign nations."

"It may be too much to say that we have come to be hated in all lands," Walsh declared, "but it is safe to assert that no nation bears us any particular good will."

"This administration dismally failed even to arrest by treaty the impending competition in naval construction between this country and Great Britain and there has been a protest on the part of all Latin America against the aggressions of this government."

"In searching for the causes of estrangement, the premier place must be assigned to our declination to co-operate with them in preserving the peace of the world, because they choose to operate and find it convenient to operate through the League of Nations."

"Irritating Influence"
"Perhaps next in its irritating influence is our insistence on the payments on the debts of our allies while raising prohibitive tariffs which make it impossible for them to pay, and place in marking up the customs duties after the debts were contracted—a percentage equivalent to raising the interest rates on them."

"Our people have a holy horror of war."

"It can only be avoided by cultivating the friendship of the nations of the earth, by dealing justly, considerately with them, by exercising forbearance."

"More than ever before, in view of our expanding foreign commerce and the necessity for finding abroad markets for our surplus products, manufactured as well as agricultural, should the admonition of Thomas Jefferson be observed, to cultivate honest friendship with all nations."

Farm Relief Paramount
But farmer relief should be the paramount issue, Walsh says, "because the conditions of which the farmers so justly complain are, in large part, due to Republican policies in contravention of the basic principles of the Democratic party."

"Strangely enough, representatives of the farmers of the grain growing states," he continued, "look for relief to artificially raising the price of farm products—the McNary-Haugen idea—to meet the level of prices generally recognized by them to have been elevated in large part by the tariff."

"The Republican party never lowers the tariff. It promised to do so in 1918 and repudiated its promise."

COMMITTEE BLOCKS OUTLAWING OF SUBS

Ilean, Minnesota; McReynolds, Democrat, Tennessee.

Opposing the resolution on the ground that the submarine is regarded as an essential defense to small nations, Porter said he felt the resolution was an empty gesture.

"We have no more right to ask France and Italy, for instance, to abolish their only means of defense on sea than they would have to ask us to abolish our only means of defense—the navy," he said.

"In asking them to abolish the submarine we are strengthening our own defenses by weakening theirs." Representative Hull, Illinois, suggested that "gestures which we can see in advance will not be responded to by foreign nations are a foolish thing."

He added that, if submarines are horrible, "we should find a means of settling disputes without war instead of trying to make it a parlor game."

Moore and Cooper defended the resolution.

two things—a lower tariff, which, he thinks, would bring more of an equality between the prices they pay for things they use and the prices they receive for their products, and rapid completion of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway, to give them lower freight rates.

"Radical Change"

He would seek to bring about what he calls a "radical change in our attitude toward and our relations with foreign nations."

"It may be too much to say that we have come to be hated in all lands," Walsh declared, "but it is safe to assert that no nation bears us any particular good will."

"This administration dismally failed even to arrest by treaty the impending competition in naval construction between this country and Great Britain and there has been a protest on the part of all Latin America against the aggressions of this government."

"In searching for the causes of estrangement, the premier place must be assigned to our declination to co-operate with them in preserving the peace of the world, because they choose to operate and find it convenient to operate through the League of Nations."

"Irritating Influence"

"Perhaps next in its irritating influence is our insistence on the payments on the debts of our allies while raising prohibitive tariffs which make it impossible for them to pay, and place in marking up the customs duties after the debts were contracted—a percentage equivalent to raising the interest rates on them."

"Our people have a holy horror of war."

"It can only be avoided by cultivating the friendship of the nations of the earth, by dealing justly, considerately with them, by exercising forbearance."

"More than ever before, in view of our expanding foreign commerce and the necessity for finding abroad markets for our surplus products, manufactured as well as agricultural, should the admonition of Thomas Jefferson be observed, to cultivate honest friendship with all nations."

Farm Relief Paramount

But farmer relief should be the paramount issue, Walsh says, "because the conditions of which the farmers so justly complain are, in large part, due to Republican policies in contravention of the basic principles of the Democratic party."

"Strangely enough, representatives of the farmers of the grain growing states," he continued, "look for relief to artificially raising the price of farm products—the McNary-Haugen idea—to meet the level of prices generally recognized by them to have been elevated in large part by the tariff."

"The Republican party never lowers the tariff. It promised to do so in 1918 and repudiated its promise."

In 1885 the three brothers opened a dry goods store on the southeast corner of Fourth and Broadway and operated there until Jan. 1, 1890, when they opened in enlarged quarters in their present location.

Strangely enough, Walsh does not base his platform upon the oil scandals which he disclosed. Here he regards them as but an incident in a greater struggle "between the influential few eager for special privileges and the mass seeking only a free and equal opportunity to work out their temporal salvation."

His counselors are Jefferson and Wilson and he marches into them in seeking his political fortune.

The former Canadian soldier was arraigned in East Chicago municipal court yesterday. He had refused to testify at a coroner's inquest into the deaths of his two sons, George, 9, and Edgar, 6.

Mrs. Helen Lawrence, a divorcee, at whose home he lived, is held as a material witness. Chisholm, in his confession said he "disposed of his boys" because she complained about them.

IT TAKES ALL-BRAN TO RELIEVE CONSTIPATION

More and more people are eating bran for "health's sake" these days. And it's a fine thing. But not everybody realizes what a difference there is in so-called "brans." Doctors say it takes 100% bran to supply enough roughage to relieve constipation. Part-bran products, at best, can only be partly effective.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. It furnishes roughage in effective quantities—and in the most effective form: cooked and krumbled. It does a work part-bran products cannot hope to equal. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal—are guaranteed to relieve constipation.

Serve ALL-BRAN often. With milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Be sure you get genuine Kellogg's though—in the red-and-green package. Use it in cooking. Sprinkle into soups. ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

GILLIS TO BE TRIED IN S. A. COURT RULES

Charles Gillis, of Westminster, who recently escaped trial temporarily, on liquor charges, now will have a chance to prove his innocence in superior court, District Attorney Z. B. West Jr. announced today.

D. G. Wetlin, attorney for Gillis, lifted the matter out of the local courts when he contended that jurisdiction had been lost through failure to file information against Gillis within 15 days after he was held to answer by the justice court. Formerly a 30-day period was allowed for bringing a defendant into superior court, but the last legislature reduced the time.

Wetlin took the matter before the district court of appeals and secured an alternate Judge Homer G. Ames to show why the case should not be dismissed. The affair was taken from the local tribunal temporarily.

Today West received notice that the alternative writ had been dismissed and that the higher court had refused to grant a peremptory writ. Thus the case is scheduled to come back for trial in Judge Ames' court. It will come up for setting the trial date March 9.

Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman, who filed the information against Gillis, contended in the initial hearing here that although the law had reduced the legal period for bringing the defendant into court, the amendment would not provide a penalty for failure to comply with the new rule. The only penalty, he pointed out, is contained in the older law, which says that the case shall be dismissed within 30 days after the defendant is held to answer, if the information has not been filed.

Gillis is charged with both possession and sale of booze and is said to have former convictions to his credit.

IT TAKES ALL-BRAN TO RELIEVE CONSTIPATION

More and more people are eating bran for "health's sake" these days. And it's a fine thing. But not everybody realizes what a difference there is in so-called "brans." Doctors say it takes 100% bran to relieve constipation. Part-bran products, at best, can only be partly effective.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. It furnishes roughage in effective quantities—and in the most effective form: cooked and krumbled. It does a work part-bran products cannot hope to equal. Two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal—are guaranteed to relieve constipation.

Serve ALL-BRAN often. With milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Be sure you get genuine Kellogg's though—in the red-and-green package. Use it in cooking. Sprinkle into soups. ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

S. A. STUDENTS TO GO TO FULLERTON

Students at the Santa Ana high school will present the weekly assembly program at Fullerton Union high school tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Miss Georgia Belle Walton, violinist, will give several numbers and the junior college male quartet will give several songs. Everett Pearce will play some popular violin numbers.

Miss Myrtle Martin of the high school faculty and John Moffatt, student body president, are making arrangements for the trip to Fullerton.

Charges of insanity may be lodged against R. R. Fuller, Santa Ana prisoner in the county jail following an alleged attack on John Petty, deputy jailer, last night, according to an announcement made from the sheriff's office.

Fuller was overpowered and placed in another cell following the asserted attack in which Petty had part of his clothes torn from him, it was reported.

The second jury apparently doubted Duncan's story of innocence and found him guilty. One of his chief witnesses, A. C. Moore, failed to appear at the second hearing.

William Duncan, 52, Santa Ana, received a six months sentence in the county jail today after being convicted of selling liquor. His trial was finished last Friday. In a former trial the jury had disagreed.

RHEUMATISM CANNOT EXIST

Mr. Clarence Bates, Right, Idaho, writes: "I am well today after taking Trunk's prescription and I can name many people to testify to this fact. I have recommended it to about forty people and it has helped them all. Use this letter if you like."

Trunk's Prescription does not depress the heart nor ruin the stomach, and no dieting is required to make it effective. Contains no mercury, salicylate, soda, oil, wintergreen nor narcotics, but combines ingredients of potency designed to positively overcome any kind of rheumatism. What more do you want? It is impossible to get something better. Urlic Acid Solvent and Liver Medicine. Trunk's Prescription sold by leading druggists.—Adv.

GILLIS TO BE TRIED IN S. A. COURT RULES

Charles Gillis, of Westminster, who recently escaped trial temporarily, on liquor charges, now will have a chance to prove his innocence in superior court, District Attorney Z. B. West Jr. announced today.

D. G. Wetlin, attorney for Gillis, lifted the matter out of the local courts when he contended that jurisdiction had been lost through failure to file information against Gillis within 15 days after he was held to answer by the justice court. Formerly a 30-day period was allowed for bringing a defendant into superior court, but the last legislature reduced the time.

Wetlin took the matter before the district court of appeals and secured an alternate writ of mandamus commanding Judge Homer G. Ames to show why the case should not be dismissed. The affair was taken from the local tribunal temporarily.

Today West received notice that the alternative writ had been dismissed and that the higher court had refused to grant a peremptory writ. Thus the case is scheduled to come back for trial in Judge Ames' court. It will come up for setting the trial date March 9.

Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman, who filed the information against Gillis, contended in the initial hearing here that although the law had reduced the legal period for bringing the defendant into court, the amendment does not provide a penalty for failure to comply with the new rule.

The only penalty, he pointed out, is contained in the older law, which says that the case shall be dismissed within 30 days after the defendant is held to answer, if the information has not been filed.

Gillis is charged with both possession and sale of booze and is said to have former convictions to his credit.

Gardner will talk on "Teaching Economics," Leon R. McMullen will talk on "U. S. History Teaching," and H. W. Goodwin will talk on "Teaching of World History."

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person.

Mapes, Anaheim, charged with embezzlement in connection with the taking of funds from the sale of an automobile, scheduled to start in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today, was continued until March 13, at the instance of the counsel for the defense, O. ## Jury Disagrees; Case Up Again

At yesterday's hearing a special venire had been called and today another special group of talsmen is on the job to discover whether Lopez is innocent or guilty. Lopez was arrested in the liquor raid staged by District Attorney Z. B. West and Sheriff Sam Jernigan recently.

Most Northern School Reached Via Dog Teams

ST. PAUL, March 5.—Eleven children, one of them a Canadian, attended what is called the most northern school in the United States, Miss Stella Trane, the teacher, reported to the Minnesota state department of education.

The school, located in the north-west angle country of Minnesota, is in a region accessible only by launch or canoe in the summer and by snowshoes, skis or dog team in the winter.

The Canadian pupil is a young Indian boy, who makes the long trip daily from his home across the line with only his dog for a companion. All of the children live on homesteads.

Miss Trane says the schoolhouse, although made of logs, is cozy, with a windbreak of birch and evergreen trees.

Fleasman stated that the planes to be used by this line will be better powered than those used by his company, the Royal Dutch Air line, operating in the Far East and on the Melbourne-London route.

EXPLORER WILL ADDRESS HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS

A lecture on "The Indians of the Painted Desert" will be presented at the Friday morning high school assembly by Dr. Frederick Monson, well known explorer and artist. The assembly will start at 10:40 o'clock and will be open to the public according to Lynn Crawford, the high school faculty who is in charge of the program.

Crawford stated that Monson, who was born in Bergen, Norway, in 1865, has had 40 years' experience among the primitive peoples in little known lands. This experience, Crawford pointed out, has given the man a wealth of material on which to base his lectures.

Monson lived among the Indians for a number of years and knows them as well as it is possible for any white man to know them.

The explorer illustrates his lectures with colored slides, the photographs for which were taken by him and later colored by him.

At one time the United States government sent Monson to Death Valley for the purpose of recording the heat throughout one summer.

SOCIAL CLUBS SEEK PERMITS FROM COUNCIL

Two applications received last night by the city council indicated that organization of two social clubs had been launched here, for J. E. Owens solicited the privilege of conducting a "social club," with headquarters in the First National bank building, and C. E. Holmes requested the right to operate a business men's club at 211 1-2 East Fourth street. Both applications were referred to the city manager and chief of police for investigation and report at the council meeting on Monday evening next.

Santa Ana is not infringing on patent rights of the Elgin Street Sweeper company by using a device invented by A. H. Barnhill, foreman of the city garage, for attaching a revolving broom to the Austin sweeper operated by the city. Barnhill has a device that is said to be superior to the attachment patented by the Elgin company, and a representative of the company a few weeks ago requested the city to discontinue its use because of infringement of rights. A letter to City Attorney C. D. Swanner by A. B. Bowman, patent attorney of Los Angeles, advised that the Barnhill equipment in no way infringes on the Elgin patent.

In a movement to complete pavement connecting links on two streets the council ordered plans and specifications for black pavement on Pine street, from Flower to Parton, and on Parton, from Fourth to Fifth, without the formality of petitions. Plans and specifications were ordered prepared for paving Shelton street, from First to Fourth, with Portland concrete pavement. This work has been promoted by a petition.

Oil Station

Applications of C. W. Metcalf for permission to erect an oil service station at the corner of Main and Wilshire, and E. B. Sprague for station at 912 North Main street, were referred to a joint meeting of the council and city planning commission next Monday evening.

Acting on the situation of a portable one-room "stand" being moved onto a vacant lot on North

Broadway, between Third and Fourth streets, without permission of council, was taken under advisement for one week.

The Cope Electric company was granted permission to hang an electric sign at 414 North Broadway.

Wells and Bressler were awarded the contract for building the concrete foundation for the 1,000,000 gallon elevated reservoir to be erected in the northeast section of the city. The firm's bid was $5013.

Seven wholesale oil companies submitted bids for supplying the city with gasoline for 12 months and the offers were referred to the city manager. All submitted the same price, 17 1-2 cents a gallon, with protection against an increase and promise of reduced prices if retail prices are lowered.

The city engineer was directed to investigate condition of trees at 441 1-2 South Birch street, where, it is said, dead trees are a menace.

Announcing that he had completed scheduling a series of good baseball contests here, Ernie Johnson, manager of the Portland Beavers in training here, suggested that Mayor Frank L. Purinton, declare a half holiday for Thursday, March 15, when the Chicago Cubs appear here for a game with the Beavers. Purinton announced that he had discussed the half holiday subject with the mayors of all municipalities in the county and that sentiment was in favor of such a declaration.

Decision on the matter of granting or rejecting petitions for paving on various streets in the southeast portion of the city was passed over for a week, the result of the chairman of the committee asking for more time for the investigation of streets and the petitions.

Plans and specifications were ordered for the paving of Olive street, from First to Fourth, and Garvey, from First to Sixth.

City Engineer Clyde Jenken announced that dirt was now available for filling in that portion of the Olive street reservoir that later may be utilized in an extension south of Flower street. He was directed to use the dirt.

H. J. Fink, Paul M. Cozad and Mrs. Edith Gallup were appointed members of the police force, the latter having a position in the office.

Charged with overtime parking, W. C. Mater, W. E. Van Horn and John Cress, Santa Ana, each were fined $2 in police court yesterday.

Tom Stark, arrested Sunday night at Sixteenth and North Main streets, on a drunk charge, was fined $15 in Judge J. F. Talbot's police court yesterday.

Raymond Ruiz was fined $2 for parking his machine between 2 a. m. and 5 a. m. in police court yesterday; B. L. Russell was fined $10 on a speeding charge and F. S. Arundall was given a $3 fine on a charge of failure to stop on the boulevard stop law.

Charged with being drunk at Seal Beach Saturday night, Lucille Wyatt, Long Beach, was sentenced to serve 20 days in the county jail in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court yesterday afternoon. Floyd Kerns, arrested at the same time, also was found guilty on a drunk charge and fined $20, which he paid.

Tom Brown, Denver, was arrested last night by J. W. Murray, Santa Ana police officer, and lodged in the county jail. He was recently dismissed from the San Diego county jail after serving a term for vagrancy, police learned. They reported.

Don Mozley, deputy sheriff, is ill at his home at 1416 North Broadway.

GOODWIN TRIAL TO REACH JURY THIS EVENING

The fate of the Rev. Philip A. Goodwin, actor and alleged murderer, was expected to be in the hands of 12 Orange county men and women composing the jury in his trial, late today.

With a final rebuttal witness, the prosecution made its last thrust at the priest's story of innocence when the case opened this morning. Both the prosecution and defense announced that they had finished, and last arguments began at 10:20 a. m.

The priest is accused of killing J. J. Patterson, Los Angeles broker, in March, 1926. The partly decomposed body, apparently burned, was found in Santa Ana canyon, March 22.

Shadow of Doubt

A last shadow of doubt was cast on the testimony of the priest when William Beatty, night clerk at the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A., took the stand. Goodwin previously had declared that he had waited in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. from 11 p. m., March 14, until 2:30 a. m., March 15.

Beatty declared that during those hours he saw no one there wearing the clerical attire which Goodwin is said to have had on at the time. No one with a priestly hat and a collar buttoned in back caught his attention, he said.

Goodwin's story was to the effect that he was waiting for Albert Dewey Gaines, former co-defendant, who had gone to Tia Juana, that they were to meet in the lobby, but that Gaines failed to appear until the following morning. It was after this meeting that the two alleged to have returned to the Santa Ana canyon, where they were accused of having murdered Patterson. Goodwin has denied the murder absolutely and the prosecution, in producing its last witness, made a final attempt to discredit his testimony.

Opens Argument

Z. B. West Jr., district attorney opened the closing arguments for the prosecution.

"Goodwin's brilliance has been the cause of his downfall," he declared. "I do not want to discredit his mental qualities. But in this affair he was too brilliant."

West scouted Goodwin's story that, when he and Gaines went to San Diego before the murder, Patterson was not with them.

"The defense says that Goodwin and Gaines were alone in the car, that they picked up a sailor at Montebello. But this sailor, according to their contention, was in the cause of his downfall," he declared. "I do not want to discredit his mental qualities. But in this affair he was too brilliant."

the cause of his downfall," he declared. "I do not want to discredit his mental qualities. But in this affair he was too brilliant."

West scouted Goodwin's story that, when he and Gaines went to San Diego before the murder, Patterson was not with them.

His argument started shortly after 10 a. m., as he stated that, if all other statements to the jury were as short as his was to be, the case would be before the jury this afternoon.

EXPLORER WILL ADDRESS HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS

A lecture on "The Indians of the Painted Desert" will be presented at the Friday morning high school assembly by Dr. Frederick Monsen, well known explorer and artist. The assembly will start at 10:40 o'clock and will be open to the public according to Lynn Crawford of the high school faculty who is in charge of the program.

Crawford stated that Monsen, who was born in Bergen, Norway, in 1865, has had 40 years' experience among the primitive peoples in little known lands. This experience, Crawford pointed out, has given the man a wealth of material on which to base his lectures.

Monsen lived among the Indians for a number of years and knows them as well as it is possible for any white man to know them.

The explorer illustrates his lectures with colored slides, the photographs for which were taken by him and later colored by him.

At one time the United States government sent Monsen to Death Valley for the purpose of recording the heat throughout one summer.

SOCIAL CLUBS SEEK PERMITS FROM COUNCIL

Two applications received last night by the city council indicated that organization of two social clubs had been launched here, for J. E. Owens solicited the privilege of conducting a "social club" with headquarters in the First National bank building, and C. E. Holmes requested the right to operate a business men's club at 211 1-2 East Fourth street. Both applications were referred to the city manager and chief of police for investigation and report at the council meeting on Monday evening next.

Santa Ana is not infringing on patent rights of the Elgin Street Sweeper company by using a device invented by A. H. Barnhill, foreman of the city garage, for attaching a revolving broom to the Austin sweeper operated by the city. Barnhill has a device that is said to be superior to the attachment patented by the Elgin company, and a representative of the company a few weeks ago requested the city to discontinue its use because of infringement of rights. A letter to City Attorney C. D. Swanner by A. B. Bowman, patent attorney of Los Angeles, advises that the Barnhill equipment in no way infringes on the Elgin patent.

In a movement to complete pavement connecting links on two streets the council ordered plans and specifications for black pavement on Pine street, from Flower to Barton, and on Barton, from Fourth to Fifth, without the formality of petitions. Plans and specifications were ordered prepared for paving Shelton street, from First to Fourth, with Portland concrete pavement. This work has been promoted by a petition.

Oil Station
Applications of C. W. Metcalf for permission to erect an oil service station at the corner of Main and Wilshire, and E. B. Sprague for station at 812 North Main street, were referred to a joint meeting of the council and city planning commission next Monday evening.

Acting on the situation of a portable one-room "stand" being moved onto a vacant lot on North

Broadway, between Third and Fourth streets, without permission of council, was taken under advisement for one week.

The Cope Electric company was granted permission to hang an electric sign at 414 North Broadway.

Wells and Bressler were awarded the contract for building the concrete foundation for the 1,000,000 gallon elevated reservoir to be erected in the northeast section of the city. The firm's bid was $5013.

Seven wholesale oil companies submitted bids for supplying the city with gasoline for 12 months and the offers were referred to the city manager. All submitted the same price, 17 1-2 cents a gallon, with protection against an increase and promise of reduced prices if retail prices are lowered.

The city engineer was directed to investigate condition of trees at 441 1-2 South Birch street, where, it is said, dead trees are a menace.

Announcing that he had completed scheduling a series of good baseball contests here, Ernie Johnson, manager of the Portland Beavers in training here, suggested that Mayor Frank L. Purinton, declare a half holiday for Thursday, March 15, when the Chicago Cubs appear in the game with the Beavers. Purinton announced that he had discussed the half holiday subject with the mayors of all municipalities in the county and that sentiment was in favor of such a declaration.

Decision on the matter of granting or rejecting petitions for paving on various streets in the southeast portion of the city was passed over for a week, the result of the chairman of the committee asking for more time for the investigation of streets and the petitions.

Plans and specifications were ordered for the paving of Olive street, from First to Fourth, and Garnsey, from First to Sixth.

City Engineer Clyde Jenken announced that dirt was now available for filling in that portion of the Olive street reservoir that later may be utilized in an extension south of Flower street. He was directed to use the dirt.

H. J. Fink, Paul M. Cozad and Mrs. Edith Gallup were appointed members of the police force, the latter having a position in the office.

GOODWIN TRIAL TO REACH JURY THIS EVENING

The fate of the Rev. Phillip A. Goodwin, actor and alleged murderer, was expected to be in the hands of 12 Orange county men and women composing the jury in his trial, late today.

With a final rebuttal witness, the prosecution made its last thrust at the priest's story of innocence when the case opened this morning. Both the prosecution and defense announced that they had finished, and last arguments began at 10:20 a. m.

The priest is accused of killing J. J. Patterson, Los Angeles broker, in March, 1926. The partly decomposed body, apparently burned, was found in Santa Ana canyon, March 22.

Shadow of Doubt

A last shadow of doubt was cast on the testimony of the priest when William Beatty, night clerk at the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A., took the stand. Goodwin previously had declared that he had waited in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. from 11 p. m., March 14, until 3:30 a. m., March 15. Beatty declared that during those hours he saw no one there wearing the clerical attire which Goodwin is said to have had on at the time. No one with a priestly hat and a collar buttoned in back caught his attention, he said.

Goodwin's story was to the effect that he was waiting for Albert Dewey Gaines, former co-defendant, who had gone to Tia Juana, that they were to meet in the lobby, but that Gaines failed to appear until the following morning. It was after this meeting that the two were alleged to have returned to the Santa Ana canyon, where they were accused of having murdered Patterson. Goodwin has denied the murder absolutely and the prosecution, in producing its last witness, made a final attempt to discredit his testimony.

Open Argument

Z. B. West Jr., district attorney opened the closing arguments for the prosecution.

"Goodwin's brilliance has been the cause of his downfall," he declared. "I do not want to discredit his mental qualities. But in this affair he was too brilliant."

West scouted Goodwin's story that, when he and Gaines went to San Diego before the murder, Patterson was not with them.

"The defense says that Goodwin and Gaines were alone in the car, that they picked up a sailor at Montebello. But this sailor, according to their contention, was in

The city governing body talked of placing a clause in the building ordinance requiring a 10 foot setback on Bradford and other streets in the town. No action was taken.

A resolution asking the city council to go on record favoring ornamental street lights in the business section, the extension of the city limits by annexation of more territory and the employment of local men in all city departments was presented to the council by a group of citizens who met before the council session. The resolution was tabled. Charles E. Lee was chairman of the citizen group.

Routine matters occupied the remainder of the time of the city councilmen.

LOCAL PLAYERS WILL PRESENT THE SHOW-OFF

In announcing plans for their second play of the season, "The Show-Off," to be produced March 22, 23 and 24, the Santa Ana Community Players today made public the following review of the drama:

"Hardly was the February play, with its striking success, over before the Santa Ana Community Players, members and governing board, began making plans for the March production. Early in January their play reading committee began the study of many plays that were available and finally decided upon "The Show-Off," a comedy that attained unusual success, first in New York and later in other large cities of this country and Europe. Many plays were read and discussed before the choice was made but all members of the play reading committee and the board of governors settled with unanimity on "The Show-Off."

"As usual in the case of more than ordinarily successful plays it is not altogether easy to say which of its many elements of appeal is responsible for the acclamations it has drawn from critics and public. Perhaps it is because the play is, first of all, the story of a quite typical American family, its joys, its worries, its sorrows, in short the daily lives of its members. We each know such families all about us and recognize them there upon the stage as Sarah and Mary and John.

"The main character of the play, Aubrey, the "Show-off" himself is one of strong appeal because of the man's extreme "humanness." Everybody knows men, not to say women, the counterparts of Aubrey, the show-off. We meet them day by day and say: There goes a fellow who is all front. He has unlimited 'brass' but he is getting by, and how often you have added, 'I wish I had his nerve!' Aubrey, the show-off grows upon one. One dislikes him at first and continues to dislike him through a considerable part of the play as we all did Frank Norris's McTeague. Soon one finds that his very egotism has its appeal, that colossal "nerve" that carries him, high and low, over each obstacle. One finds oneself feeling that perhaps, after all that fellow has something to him—where there is such huge volumes of smoke there must somewhere be a flame that may not be so small. And then, at the end, where Aubrey, self-sufficient, egotistic, brazen to the last, carries off the situation with a high hand, instinctively one thinks: 'By Jove, Aubrey had the goods after all.'

"Well anyhow, the play has tremendously strong appeal. There are thought to be very few in Santa Ana who have seen it on the stage but those who have read the book are enthusiastic over its possibilities and the few who have been privileged to attend rehearsals now declare it will be one of the Santa Ana Community Players' greatest successes.

It will be shown at the Temple Theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 22, 23 and 24 and tickets for the performance can be purchased of members of the Santa

LAGUNA EXHIBIT AT ORANGE SCHOOL

ORANGE, March 6.—The Laguna art exhibit was placed on display yesterday at the Lemon street school. In spite of the rain a number of visitors viewed the pictures on the first day and it is expected that many will be present during the week.

Tomorrow has been set for the tea to be given by the P.-T. A. of the school.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, March 6.—The death of Mrs. Carl Visser, wife of Carl Visser, an oil employee, occurred Saturday evening at the family home on the Cal-Pet. reserve in Wintersburg. Mrs. Visser is survived by her husband and two sons, one six years and the other but six days old at the time of the mother's death.

The body was taken in charge by Smith and Thull, of Santa Ana. Between $45 and $50 was cleared by the women of the Wintersburg Missionary society on Friday evening at the co-operative supper which was given at the social hall, putting the first sum into the hospital fund of $160, which the society must raise within a year.

There were about 125 persons attending the supper and the program which followed included a speech by Prof. Huff, principal of the Huntington Beach grammar school and the following half hour of music by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Worthy and Conrad Worthy. John McIntosh has been under a physician's care since last Tuesday suffering from infection in a kneecap owing to a fall which he had from a pipe on which he was walking. The fall reopened a wound in the knee which was almost healed and infection set in.

Mary Helen Treece was honored at a birthday party Saturday afternoon at her home, when eight little girls helped her celebrate her eighth anniversary. "Lotta" was played and prizes given the winners by Mrs. Treece, who then invited the party guests into the Ana Community Players. The holders of sustaining membership tickets can reserve their seats for the play at the Santa Ana Book Store a week before the performance opens.

LOCAL PLAYERS WILL PRESENT THE SHOW-OFF

In announcing plans for their second play of the season, "The Show-Off," to be produced March 22, 23 and 24, the Santa Ana Community Players today made public the following review of the drama:

"Hardly was the February play, with its striking success, over before the Santa Ana Community Players, members and governing board, began making plans for the March production. Early in January their play reading committee began the study of many plays that were available and finally decided upon "The Show-Off," a comedy that attained unusual success, first in New York and later in other large cities of this country and Europe. Many plays were read and discussed before the choice was made but all members of the play reading committee and the board of governors settled with unanimity on "The Show-Off."

"As usual in the case of more than ordinarily successful plays it is not altogether easy to say which of its many elements of appeal is responsible for the acclamations it has drawn from critics and public. For one it is because the play is, first of all, the story of a quite typical American family, its cares, its worries, its sorrows, in short the daily lives of its members. We each know such families all about us and recognize them there upon the stage as Sarah and Mary and John.

"The main character of the play, Aubrey, the "Show-off" himself is one of strong appeal because of the man's extreme "humanness." Every body knows men, not to say women, the counterparts of Aubrey, the show-off. We meet them day by day and say: There goes a fellow who is all front. He has unlimited 'brass' but he is getting by, and how often we have added, 'I wish I had his nerve!' Aubrey, the show-off grows upon one. One dislikes him at first and continues to dislike him through a considerable part of the play as we all did Frank Norris's McTeague. Soon one finds that his very egotism has its appeal, that colossal "nerve" that carries him, high-hat and all over each obstacle. One finds oneself feeling that perhaps, after all that fellow has something to him—where there is such huge volumes of smoke there must somewhere be a flame that may not be so small. And then, at the end, where Aubrey, self-sufficient, egotistic, brazen to the last, carries off the situation with a high hand, instinctively one thinks: 'By Jove, Aubrey had the goods after all!'

"Well anyhow, the play has tremendously strong appeal. There are thought to be very few in Santa Ana who have seen it on the stage but those who have read the book are enthusiastic over its possibilities and the few who have been privileged to attend rehearsals now being held at the Temple Theater declare it will be one of the Santa Ana Community Players' greatest successes.

It will be shown at the Temple Theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 22, 23 and 24 and tickets for the performance can be purchased of members of the Santa

DON'T STAY FAT IN THESE DAYS

You see countless people who have gained new beauty, new health and vim, by fighting excess fat. Some have done this by abnormal exercise and diet, some in a modern, scientific way. Why not follow their example?

There is a way based on scientific research. It combats a cause of excess fat which starvation cannot fight. That method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets, now used for 20 years. Millions of boxes of them. The results you see wherever you look should induce you to accept them.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the reasons for results. So there is no secret, no reason to fear harm. You will know that all the good results come in a natural way. Go learn them now, by asking your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola.—Adv.

PIONEER DAYS OF SANTA ANA RECALLED WHEN OLD TIMERS MEET WITH JUNIOR CHAMBER

Santa Ana's early history was relived last night by scores of its pioneers who gathered with the Junior Chamber of Commerce to form a closer bond between those who worked to build the city in its infancy and those who are helping them carry on the development into the future.

The day when Dan Baker posted a no hunting sign in a pool at the corner of Fourth and Main streets, when George Peters was hauled out of bed and forced to ride a bicycle up Fourth street without adding to his apparel, the era when W. H. Spurgeon founded Santa Ana in 1869, were pictured on the screen.

T. E. Stephenson, assisted by the local firm of Foreman and Gilbert, showed on the screen the men and the town which grew here when the country was younger. Bruce Switzer, president, introduced James Anderson, program chairman.

The only point in the city's history which today is unsettled after the resume is "Who erected the first brick building and where?" That question produced several friendly arguments but was still undecided when the gathering adjourned.

"All right," chimed Maurice Yarnell during a lull in the controversy, and changed the subject to a less disputed point, recounting the covered wagon days when it was not unusual to kill a 200-pound buck within a few miles of this city.

Unique Meeting
The meeting was one of the most unique ever staged by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and was attended by over 100 pioneers and members. Many of the older men are still active in the life of the city, linking the past and present with deeds as well as words.

Harry Blaeholder, with his violin, and Oscar Bradford on the lyre, launched the trek back to pioneer days when they played the "Wild Rose Waltz," "Buffalo Girls" and "Turkey in the Straw." John W. "Daddy" Mitchell stood it as long as he could and then joined them with the rattle and click of the bones.

Then he took his own fiddle and gave the crowd a sample of the old time hoedown harmony, playing encore after encore. He was accompanied by C. F. Mitchell, his son.

The picture presented by Stephenson included those of Judge Pleasants, the real pioneer of this section, W. H. Spurgeon, scenes showing the dirt roads and wooden store buildings, bustles and stove-pipe hats. Silkwood, once world's champion pacing horse, and James Sleeper, county assessor, in the first Bulck ever sold in Orange county, were among the photos on the screen.

Stanley Clem, dressed to represent his conception of a Gospel Swamp denizen, contributed musical flavor when he rendered several Jew's harp numbers.

Horace Fine Talks
The majority of the evening was filled with reminiscences from the "wide open spaces," James Sleeper, who recalled the days of cactus and jackrabbits; Ed Stafford, who told of plowing in a straight line from First to McFadden street; A. J. Crookshank, connected with the First National bank since its organization; W. B. Tedford, who said he had to stay up at night to protect his potato crop from wild mustang horses; J. P. Baumgartner, who said, "We're not old when we can hope more than we remember"—all these and many others entertained the group with stories from real life in the early days.

George Smith, F. P. Nickey, John Gowan, J. A. Cranston, W. A. Huff, Wilson and Tom Selvidge, Hugh Lowe, Joe Backs, Senator Anderson, Charles Swanner and E. A. Hawley were among those who added to the interesting stories told last night.

Merle Hussong, newly elected president of the California Junior Chamber of Commerce, was introduced by Bruce Switzer, local president. Ridley Smith assisted in carrying out the evening's program, while Lynn Crawford and Ed Marble led the singing.

The program was in charge of James Anderson, who was assisted by Hussong, Bill Foote and Sedric Brown.

W. C. Jerome declared that the average pioneer never saw and never will see a better place to live than Santa Ana. His reminiscences included a story of Gospel Swamp days when, on circus days, it was not uncommon for men to bring a load of willow wood to town, sell it for a sack of flour, get rid of that for half price and buy circus tickets with the money.

First Election
George Peters told of the first election of city officials and displayed the handcuffs, star, and club used by his brother, Mac Peters, as first city marshal. The star was made from a silver dollar.

Dr. C. D. Ball, who once said he came here when Saddleback had no ridge; Mit Phillips, who took the "reaction eastern air" out of the tires of his first car at the suggestion of Fred Ross, pumping them up again with air from the

KINDERGARTEN TEACHERS HEAR TALK MONDAY

Kindergarten teachers in the city schools, and mothers of little children of pre-school and kindergarten age, heard a valuable talk yesterday afternoon when Miss Barbara Greenwood, head of the nursery school of University of California at Los Angeles, spoke at the Congregational church.

Stressing the importance of proper environment for the child's early years, the speaker declared that while environment and training make the child, yet both are based on heredity, quoting "Man is an omnibus, in which all of his ancestors may ride."

"It is impossible to know what traits a child may inherit from some remote ancestor, and each child's personality will call forth varying responses from those in its environment," the speaker observed, and continued by urging parents and teachers to be careful and not neglect the quiet, retiring child any more than they would neglect the one with high spirits and a high strung temperament.

"Little children should be kept quiet. Over-stimulation is bad for any child, so regular rest should be a fixed habit. The more of such habits established in a child of the pre-school age, the better. A young child's play should be observed and his preferences studied. Children, like adults, should have a task, a plan, and freedom to carry it out. Even in their play, children should not be interrupted with sudden commands, to be obeyed instantly. Give a child a little time in which to understand the advice or suggestion. Observe a child sympathetically and appreciatively in order better to understand him."

In concluding, Miss Greenwood expressed her opinion that every adult should have a course in child training, and offered several books which she assured her audience, would be extremely helpful. These included "Elation and Elation's 'Child Guidance,'" "Every Day Problems in Every Day Children," by Dr. Thom, and "Parents on Probation," by Miriam Van Waters.

Tombstone Given As Wedding Gift

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., March 5.—A honeymoon that started with boasts by the bridegroom that he was married in a suit he had worn 12 years ended with a display of a tombstone on which the bride's name had been inscribed was described in the circuit court today by Mrs. Inn Cronk, who is seeking a divorce from Horace Cronk, manufacturer and musician.

Mrs. Cronk testified that when they returned from a wedding trip to Chicago her husband took her to his garage and showed her the tombstone. She said he bought her a fur coat two sizes too large and refused to permit her to exchange it because, he said, his next wife would be a larger woman. She complained further that, though her husband possessed more than $100,000, he bought her a pair of glasses at a five-and-ten-cent store when her sight failed.

They were married five years ago.

Mothers:

Your babies are too precious to be subjects for any experiment, and it's worse than folly to "try" things on them when you can be sure. Plain, old-fashioned Castoria is making sick, feverish, fretful babies well and happy today just like it has been doing for over fifty years. Physicians recommend it and millions of mothers swear by it. It soothes crying, wakeful babies to sleep quicker than paregoric or any other opiate, and causes no harmful effects. It removes souring material from their little stomachs and intestines quicker than castor oil, and does it without griping or sickening. There's nothing quite like it for colic, constipation, diarrhea, colds, or any of baby's little "upsets." Fletcher's Castoria is a vegetable. Doctors declare it harmless to even the very youngest of infants, so you can use it as often as baby needs it. Its taste is delightful. Take a little yourself and see why "children cry for it." Only one thing to watch. Get genuine Castoria—the bottle bearing Fletcher's signature. It is not expensive. "Care and Feeding of Babies," the book worth its weight in gold to every mother and prospective mother, comes with every package.

SANTA ANA-WHITTIER TRACK MEET POSTPONED; EX-SAINT CAPTAIN STARS AT POMONA

There was no Santa Ana-Whittier track meet yesterday and just when and where it will be held was still an undetermined problem at the local high school today. Rain transformed the Poly cinder track into the well known sea of mud and Coaches "Tex" Oliver and Don Douglas agreed to call the thing off early in the day.

The Santa Ana schedule is one with few open spaces and Coach Oliver and his manager, Howard Bear, are going to encounter some difficulty trying to squeeze in the competition. Whittier has little strength and may agree to forfeit the points to the Saints. Saturday's interscholastic relay carnival will be next in line for the Saint track squad and Oliver expects to transport his entire squad to the Los Angeles Coliseum for this classic.

Harvey Bear, the blue-streak from Santa Ana, proved himself the backbone of the Frosh track team when he took three first places as well as running a fast 220 in the relay in the track meet with Whittier high school recently. Bear ran the century in 10.1 seconds and the 220 in 23.4 seconds, over a track which was unusually heavy. He also took first place in the broad jump with a leap of 20 feet, 6 1/2 inches. Bear has made better time than that above in both sprinting events, managing to do 40 flat in the 100 and 22.3 seconds in the furlong. Under the instruction of Coach Bob Strehle, Bear should break even time in both events before the close of the season.

Charley Hezmalhalch, versatile Fullerton athlete who has been broad-jumping close to 22 feet, pulled two ligaments in his left knee in practice the other day and may be out of competition for the remainder of the season. His knee was still weak from an injury sustained during the football season.

Two former Santa Ana athletes are winning points for the Stan-

CLEVELAND TO STAND PAT ON TEAM OF 1927

CLEVELAND, March 6.—With the exception of a manager, one or two veterans leaguers, and several stars recruited from the minors, the Cleveland Indians went into spring training at New Orleans with practically the same personnel that finished sixth in the 1927 race.

Despite numerous attempts of President Alva Brady and his millionaire associate owners to obtain reinforcement for the club, the Indians will have to base their aspirations for a first division team on the strength of recruited minor leaguers unless new major league material is obtained before the beginning of the season.

Among the most promising of the recruits is Ed Morgan, late outfielder with the New Orleans Southern association team, who batted .350 during the 1927 season and had seven major league clubs after his services. Besides being a star at the bat, Morgan is reputed to be an exceptional ball hawk and in his last year at New Orleans stole 21 bases.

EVERY CITY TO HELP PROMOTE BIG BALL GAME

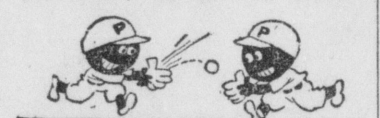

Chicago, Portland Players To Be Taken on Tour of Section's Beauty Spots

The biggest baseball day Orange county ever had will be celebrated appropriately when the Chicago Cubs, colorful National league pennant contenders, come to the Orange County Fair grounds March 15 for their exhibition game with the Portland Beavers. The brisk cities of this district, large and small, are going to "put the thing over" with characteristic vigor.

Already the mayors of Santa Ana, Huntington Beach, Orange, Fullerton and Anaheim, to say nothing of the lesser municipalities, have proclaimed the day a legal half-holiday and boosters in these communities will send large delegations to the game itself.

Joe McCarthy, hustling manager of the Cubs, has agreed to bring to use his first string against Ernie Johnson's Oregonians. William Wrigley, the multi-millionaire owner of the club, will be here in person, it is believed.

Players of both the Chicago and Portland squads will be guests at St. Ann's inn luncheon of the Santa Ana Lions club and the day's program calls for an extended automobile trip around the county

CAJON PASS TO TEST MARATHON RUNNERS TODAY

ENROUTE WITH PYLE CARAVAN, CAJON, Calif., March 6.—Nester Erickson, of Finland, passed Willie Kohlenmaier, New York Finn, to take the lead in the third day's heat of the transcontinental footrace when Kohlenmaier developed leg muscle lameness 12 miles out of Bloomington.

The Finn, who won the first two heats of the "Bunion Derby" dropped to third position when Ed Gardner, Seattle Negro, left him behind. Kohlenmaier slowed to a walk. The run today is from Bloomington to Victorville, 27 miles.

BY JIM POWERS (United Press Special Correspondent) ENROUTE WITH PYLE CARAVAN, BLOOMINGTON, Calif., March 6.—The ranks of the transcontinental footracers were expected to be diminished tonight when the athletes trudged into Victorville at the end of their third day's run, a grueling 2000-foot ascent over Cajon Pass.

Willie Kohlenmaier, New York Finn, who finished first in both heats to date, was the outstanding figure in the Marathon pack as the derbyists started out today. While his margin gives him some what of an advantage, there are more than 65 days of the Los Angeles to New York trip remaining.

Kohlenmaier covered the 34 1/2 miles from Puente to Bloomington in 4 hours, 12 minutes and 30 seconds. His total time elapsed, for the two heats was 5 hours, 50 minutes and 37 seconds.

Ollie Wattinen, another Finn, was second in total time at the start of today's jaunt. His mark was 6 hours, 30 minutes and 52 seconds. He finished third for yesterday's run.

Third in total time was Sam Richman, of New York, with 6 hours, 32 minutes and 30 seconds. August Fager, of Ashabula, Ohio, was fourth for the two days with 6 hours, 37 minutes and 12 seconds.

Eddie Gardner, Seattle Negro, pursued Kohlenmaier doggedly yesterday to finish second for the Puente-Bloomington run. The first ten yesterday finished in the following order: Willie Kohlenmaier, Finland; first; Eddie Gardner, Seattle; second; Ollie Wattinen, Finland; third; Joe Welles, Los Angeles; fourth; Sam Richman, New York; fifth; August Fager, Ohio; sixth; Nester Erickson, Finland; seventh; Andrew Payne, Oklahoma; eighth; Dwight Houfsteater, Michigan; ninth; and Nicholas Quomawahu, Arizona Hopi Indian.

The rain which beat down on the runners yesterday had ceased falling today. The run from Bloomington to Victorville today will be approximately 27 miles, but the climb probably will make the finishing times slow.

AMERICANS TO LIVE ON LINER AT AMSTERDAM

By GEORGE KIRKSEY (United Press Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, March 6.—The American Olympic team will reside in a floating hotel in the harbor at Amsterdam during the 1928 Olympic games.

The liner President Roosevelt will take the American athletes across the Atlantic and return and will provide quarters for them during the progress of the games, July 28 to August 12.

Other countries will solve the difficult housing problem in divers manners. The Swedish team will sleep in a dance hall. The French athletes will have a "Little Paris," with French cooks, a moving picture theater and Paris newspapers delivered every morning by airplane. Hundreds of athletes from other countries will live in a tent city.

Finding Quarters Problem One of the biggest problems for all nations at the Paris games was to find convenient living quarters near the stadium.

While the American ship-hotel will be two miles from the Amsterdam stadium, Coach Lawson Robertson believes it will better suit the needs of the American group than any available quarters. The Amsterdam team will sail July 11 and arrive at Amsterdam July 20, giving the athletes eight days in which to become acclimated and familiar with their new surroundings.

Present plans call for 263 athletes to make the trip, divided as follows:

Track Leads Field Track and field, 122, swimming, 50, rowing, 30, fencing, 16, gymnastics, 10, boxing, 10, wrestling, 9, cycling, 6, equestrian sports, 6, pentathlon, 4.

Gymnasium equipment will be provided on the boat and Coach Robertson plans to hold daily workouts for the athletes on the voyage across the Atlantic.

The final Olympic tryouts for the track and field team will be held in the Harvard Stadium, Cambridge, Mass., July 6 and 7, less than a week before the team leaves.

The sectional track and field tryouts will be held on or before June 23 at Dallas, Tex.; Detroit, Mich.; New York City; Los Angeles, Cal.; San Francisco, Cal.; Portland, Ore.; Iowa City, Iowa; Lawrence, Kans.; Denver, Colo.; Cincinnati, Ohio; Birmingham, Ala.; or Atlanta, Ga.

Here's List of Tryouts The other tryouts are: Women's track and field at New York or Newark, N. J., July 7.

Swimming at Detroit, probably June 22, 23, 24.

Diving at San Francisco, probably June 10 in connection with the national championships.

Women's swimming and diving at New York, probably June 29-30 and July 1.

Boxing at Boston April 23, 24. Wrestling at Grand Rapids, Mich., late in June or the first week in July.

Gymnastics at New York early in June. The American track and field team will go to London after the Olympic games for a dual meet with the British Olympic team, August 11.

The President Roosevelt will sail for the United States August 31.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Abe Katz, manager of Sid Terris, has purchased the contract of Sergeant Sammy Baker, Mitchell field welterweight, for a reported sum of $15,000.

BOBBY JONES NOT SECURE

Bobby Jones is the cream of the golfing talent but the Atlantan is going to subordinate his golf to law this summer and he may not be able to retain his crowns with such little effort. There are many first class amateurs ready to pounce on his title if Bobby is off form.

VICTORY GIVES TROJANS COAST TITLE TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES, March 6.—University of Southern California's basketball team, returned a 53 to 50 victory in the first game of its Pacific Coast conference play-off with University of Washington, will have a chance to win the championship tonight.

If the Trojans beat the Huskies again tonight, in the second contest, the third will not be necessary. The game last night went into an extra period when the end of regular playing time found the two quintets with 47 points each. Things looked gloomy for the Trojans when Snider of the Huskies caged a field goal a free throw to make it 50 to 47.

But then Bruner found the hoop twice and Mortenson once while Washington was unable to tally again. The Trojans had a 28 to 18 lead when the first half ended, but Washington came back determinedly in the second session.

Snider of Washington led with 18 points while Mortenson was high for the Trojans with 14.

AUGUSTA, Ga.—First Baseman Bill Terry and Catcher Jack Cummings were scheduled to take their first workouts of the training season with the New York Giants today. They arrived last night.

MacKenzie, Sweetser Sure To Shoot Sensational Golf This Year

NEW YORK, March 6.—When the venerable Charles Evans Jr. sought the comforting cool of the clubhouse at Minikahda last August, beaten 8 and 7 by Bobby Jones in the championship round of the national amateur, as many critics as were there pronounced Atlanta Robert's crown one of the safest in sportsdom.

They professed to see no one within gunshot who was capable of taking Robert out where the fairways roll and traps yawn and coming back with his scalp. Yet the winter has heard it repeated many times that Jones has made his last runaway of the amateur. "This of a player who rode through the tourney at Minneapolis by scores of 2-up, 3 and 2, 10 and 9, 11 and 10 and 8 and 7. A good deal must have happened to cause any such switch in sentiment.

Subordinates Golf to Law First of all was Jones' announcement that he would limit his future play to the amateur and open and would at all times subordinate golf to his practice of law.

It was immediately recalled that Bobby came to Oakmont last Spring with little warning up because he was then "boning" for his bar exams and that his play that week was, for him, very mediocre and without confidence. This led to the conjecture that he cannot expect to retain his game at razor edge and woo Blackstone as assiduously as he says he is going to. One or the other must suffer. Bobby declares it will be the golf, which, as he says, "does-

LOCAL PLAYERS OPEN PRACTICE ON WEDNESDAY

President Jacobs Expected To Announce Meeting of Entire Association Soon

When night baseball comes spring can't be far away and so devotees of Santa Ana's most popular evening sport began looking forward today to the annual resumption of activities at Lincoln park.

Cognizant of the fact that the season will be here almost before they are aware of its presence, leading lights of the activity here announced that practice will begin tomorrow night and issued a call for candidates for the city's all-star team to report for first practice tomorrow evening, at 7 o'clock, in the gymnasium at Tustin high school.

The all-star team, as usual, will carry the colors of Santa Ana into the race for the Orange county league championship, an honor that was won last season after a desperate duel with Anaheim.

Prospects Bright

Prospects for the coming season are considered excellent, there appearing to be no valid reason why the 1927 summer squad shouldn't be fully as strong as the championship one of last year. Virtually every member of the pennant winning troupe is available and there is said to be a plethora of new material.

Gene Hitt, the tall spin-ball expert, will probably do the bulk of the gunning for the "indoor" squad. Hitt has shown amazing improvement in the last two seasons and the coming one should be his best. It is understood that his brother, Tommy, will be available for mound service and that Hal Jensen, who has as much "stuff" as either of the Hitts but lacks their control, will be a candidate for the hurling staff. Walt Jordan and "Tex" Bergman are other possibilities.

"Eeny" Wilcox will have little opposition for the backstopping chores as he is the class of all the local receivers. Luther Babcock, big, experienced and willing, will be a high class replacement.

Many Stars Available

Any number of possibilities are listed among the prospective candidates. Such men as Newt Stark, Curt Youel, Mearl Youel, Orville Schuchardt, Warren Sullivan, "Rusty" Sullivan, Darwin Scott, Bill Foote, Bill Cole, Horace Snow, Wayne Nelson, "Memphis" Hill, Rudy Romo, Randolph Bell, Ed Daley, Levitt Daley, Everett Lutz, John Lutz and "Jug" Walters will be hard to keep off the starting lineup.

Otto A. Jacobs, president of the Santa Ana Night Baseball commission, ruling board of the sport, is expected to call an open meeting of enthusiasts sometime this month for the purpose of discussing plans for the coming season. Many important matters are to come before the association and the commissioners want to get an earlier start this year than last.

INDIANS TO STAND PAT ON 1927 CLUB

Peckinpaugh will have Morgan, Gerken, from Milwaukee; Langford, Wilson, formerly with the Boston Braves, and several others from which to complete his outfield.

More worrisome than the outfield is the infield. Joe Sewell, one of the best of the American league shortstops, is sure to retain his position; George Burns will be back at first base, and Fonseca, probably will start at second. At third Johnny Hodapp, once with Indianapolis in the American Association, will succeed Rube Lutzke, recently sold to Newark.

Whether Hodapp can stand the American league pace remains to be seen. He has been retained as utility infielder for the past two seasons after coming to the Indians highly rated by Done Bush, now manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

As utility infielders, Peckinpaugh probably will depend on Lind, who played second base last season for Denver; and Spurgeon, a veterans hand over from last year. Peckinpaugh, contrary to early reports, is expected to remain on the bench.

Sewell First String Catcher

Luke Sewell will start the season as the regular catcher with Glenn Myatt and Autry, two veterans, as helpmates. Grover Hartley, signed as coach of the pitchers, also may take an occasional turn at the padded mit.

Hudlin, Uhle, Buckeye, Brown, Grant, Levens, Miller and Shaute make up the regular pitching staff while Bayne, formerly a St. Louis Brown, also is expected to be retained. Bolton and Collard, young players taken from the minors, look promising, while Underhill, a recruit from Texas, may make the grade. The other Indian recruit hurlers either are too experienced or too young to remain as regulars.

Cincinnati will be the only major league team the Indians will meet during the training season. The schedule calls for two games, with the Reds at Cincinnati April 7 and 8. New Orleans, Toledo and Columbus, minor league teams, comprise the balance of the schedule.

SPORTSMATTER

BY FRANK GETTY

UNITED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

Arms and the amical!
With the arrival of the regulars at the training camps this week, baseball takes on a more familiar guise.

The old battle of age against youth, survival of the fittest, is on once more.

The rookies who have had things to themselves for a fortnight or so now cast more or less respectful glances at the veterans who have come to take possession of the spotlight.

And the veterans, how jealously they regard the upstarts who may yet do them out of jobs.

How zealously they assure one another that the ol' arm will be comin' around all right in a few days. How stiffly they hobble to the rubbing room after the first few dashes down the baseline and a turn or two at the sliding pit.

The manager sits hunched in critical scrutiny for pretty soon now he has to issue some one-way tickets.

George Sisler with the Senators at Tampa; Tris Speaker with the Athletics at Fort Meyers; Rogers Hornsby with the Boston Braves at St. Petersburg; Kiki Cuyler with the Cubs at Catalina; a lot of new faces in a lot of old uniforms; these men have no need to worry about losing their jobs. They are paid as much for their personalities as for their respective abilities.

As modest an observer of the national pastime as the elongated Mr. Gillicuddy recently expressed the opinion that if Ty Cobb played ball for him this season, the Athletics would win the pennant.

The Macks may turn the trick at that, if anyone can beat the Yankees. Tris Speaker has a lot of baseball knowledge to contribute, and the spectacle of Tris and Ty playing side by side in the outfield should be worth going to any ball park to see.

Philadelphia's problem is at first base, however, rather than in the outfield. Connie Mack already has more good outfielders than he knows what to do with.

The Senators count upon George Sisler to help them to the top. First base presents a different sort of problem to Clark Griffith. Just for the moment he has one too many first basemen. It may be that the Old Fox and Bucky Harris will put their heads together, and decide to use Sisler in the outfield. George is an all-around ball player but particularly useful at bat.

Rogers Hornsby will try to help hoist the Braves into the first division. It is a laudable ambition, and "The Rajah" has already accomplished one baseball miracle by bringing a world's championship to St. Louis.

The only trouble with picturing the Braves in the first division is that that particular section of the National League has been spoken for by no fewer than five other clubs, all of which are stronger than Judge Fuch's aggregation.

The St. Louis Cardinals can't miss. The Pirates should be up there. The Cubs will be fighting, with Cuyler's bat and arm to help them. Jack Hendrick's Reds are going to do better this year than last. It is hard to write the Giants out of the first flight.

It looks as though they will have to enlarge that first division or disappoint a couple of pretty good ball clubs.

The Phillies and the Robins have the right idea. They know where they are headed and have nothing to worry about.

ford freshmen track squad. Ray Dawson, erstwhile Poly football hero, put the 16-pound shot a distance of 44 feet, 6 inches and Alan McDermott has been broad-jumping around 22 feet. McDermott is also the second best sprinter on the frosh squad since Les Hables, brilliant youngster from King City, flunked out of college.

"Doc" Hearn, Santa Ana football captain-elect and star pole-vaulter, is recovering from injuries and may be able to resume competition within the month. Hearn is a high class vaulter with possibilities of 12 feet or better and his loss will be a costly one if he is unable to take part in the big meet.

However, Hudkins would not turn down a bout with Mickey Walker during his stay here, it was said.

HANDY MANDY NOW AT TIJUANA TRACK

TIJUANA RACE TRACK, Mex., March 6.—With the arrival of Handy Mandy and Port-Hole, the two stellar mares who will carry the colors of the Three D stable in the ninth Coffroth handicap here Sunday, March 18, all likely starters in this classic, are now on the ground.

While Handy Mandy's fame as a race mare overshadows in some quarters the reputation of Port-Hole, her stablemate, the latter is well liked by many of the knowing ones.

It is now no secret that Port-Hole, before shipping to Tijuana worked so sensationally for Trainer C. E. (Boots) Durnell that the Texans wagered heavily on her in the Coffroth future book.

In many respects Handy Mandy is now considered the premier race mare of America. She is a sturdy daughter of Brown Prince and a highly desirable point in her makeup is her ability to carry weight over a distance of ground. She etched her name permanently into turf chronicles when she won the Latonia derby and set a new American record for 1 1-2 miles at 2:28 3-5, taking one-fifth of a second from the mark which had been established by the great Man o' War.

YOUTHS CHALLENGE JONES' SUPREMACY

n't buy groceries for the Joneses."

Another factor—and this may turn out to be the most important

—is the slow but certain rise of the group which includes Roland MacKenzie, Gene Homans, Phil Finlay and a handful of others who were battling around in knee pants not so long ago, but have come to the fore rapidly within the years since Jones first ascended to the throne.

MacKenzie is undoubtedly the most dangerous of the lot, especially since he seems to have outlined a definite program of practice and conditioning. Roland grew very rapidly, too fast, in fact, for his bones and muscles to keep up. As a result he hasn't had the physique to stand tournament pressure.

Early this winter, however, he went into the Pacific northwest where he worked in a lumber camp for several months in order to strengthen wrists, shoulders and legs. Now he is back at Brown university and has pronounced himself fit for the summer's mashie wars.

MacKenzie is one of the most skillful shot makers among the amateurs. Give him the body to back it up and there's no limit to his possibilities.

Homans and Finlay both lasted into the third round a Minkahida. The former disappeared at that point before Jimmy Johnston, who was on his home grounds. Finlay jumped into the semi-final, but the grizzled Francis Outmet subdued him 5 and 2. Both, however, were accumulating the tournament experience that will stand them in good stead in the future.

Nor is Jones' immediate future made any less thorny by the return of Jess Sweetser, who has won a game fight against illness and is ready to again take his place among the first flight of American golfers.

Sweetser was a sick man in 1926 when he won the British amateur. He collapsed before reaching home and his commanding bulk was missing entirely from the 1927 picture.

It is a question, of course, how swiftly Jess will be able to revive his old skill. At the peak, he must be reckoned a formidable contender for the simon pure title.

The Empress of Sorrows

Daughter of a King,
Wife of a Czar and
Mother of a Czar,
Dowager Marie Feodorovna
Has Fallen From Grandeur
And Now Lives Humbly
In a Village of Denmark

The Empress of Sorrows, right, with her sister, Alexandra, the late Queen Mother of England.

Eighty-one-year-old Dowager Empress Marie Feodorovna. . . . Fate filled her cup with glory, power, horror, blood, tears. . . . Above, right, the Empress as a young woman.

"THE Empress of Sorrows!" On any sunny Sunday when the good folk of Copenhagen, the brilliant capital of Denmark, make an excursion to the coast of Oeresund, they point to the little villa of Hvidoere and make the above remark, almost in whispers. For in Hvidoere, fallen from all her former grandeur and high estate, lives the Dowager Empress Feodorovna, daughter of a King, wife of a Czar, mother of a Czar, and now merely a poor, sorrowing old woman, living on her memories and sustaining herself by one pathetic, tragic hope—that Czar Nicholas II of Russia still lives.

Eighty years ago, on November 25, she was born in the brilliant little court of her father, King Christian IX of Denmark. She was christened Dagmar.

With her slightly older sister, Alexandra, she spent a happy, sunny childhood. The two girls were given a good education. Neither of them dreamed at that time that they would make what all the world would deem brilliant marriages. But they reckoned without their father, the greatest matchmaker in Europe.

King Christian's first great stroke came when he brought about the wedding of the lovely Alexandra with the Prince of Wales, afterwards King Edward VII, in 1863.

Princess Dagmar rejoiced for her sister. She was going to be Queen and Empress, was going to live in London, the heart of the greatest empire in the world. But even then Fate was beginning to consider the case of the girl who was left behind, was preparing for her a chalice in which it poured glory and power, blood and tears.

DAGMAR, through the joint efforts of Alexander II, Czar of Russia, and King Christian, became engaged to wed the Czarvitch Nicholas. In a few months the sorrowing Dagmar was rushing to Nice to be at the bedside of her dying royal lover. He just had time to breathe his last request to her, that she should marry his brother and some day mount the throne of Russia.

So on October 26, 1866, she became the wife of the Czarvitch Alexander, the ceremony being performed with all the pomp that Russia could muster.

Later in life her own experience was to be paralleled by her niece by marriage, the present Queen Mary of England.

Princess Mary was engaged to wed the Duke of Clarence, heir to the throne of England. When he died she became engaged to his brother, the present King George.

Dagmar's wedding was her first cup of glory. Not long afterward she was served her first cup of blood and horror. One morning there was the searing, tearing crash of a bomb in the Russian capital, then called St. Petersburg. Czar Alexander II was killed by a nihilist bomb.

Dagmar's husband now mounted the throne as Czar Alexander III. With his own hand, following a famous gesture of Napoleon, the new Czar placed the crown on the head of his beloved wife.

NOW began a brilliant life for the Danish Princess whose name in Russia had been changed to Marie Feodorovna. The Czar's father had been a liberal, but had nevertheless been murdered by nihilists. The new Czar made up his mind he would be Czar indeed. He repressed all liberal ideas. He maintained a magnificent court. He flouted the idea of death at the hands of his anarchist enemies and reigned for 13 years with increasing vigor, making of Russia a very great power.

Nobody ever dreamed he would die in his bed. But he did. In 1894 Marie Feodorovna found herself a widow and a Dowager Empress.

The new Czar, her son, Nicholas II, had been her favorite. The young man, like his father before him, was accustomed to listen to her wise counsels. But gradually Nicholas was weaned away from her by his wife and the court.

She saw how weak her son was. She pleaded with him: "Be Czar indeed, as your father was." But in vain. The filthy priest, Rasputin, appeared on the scene. He was the real Czar. His advice brought the empire from weakness to demoralization.

Then came the great war, Russia's first brilliant successes in East Prussia and Galicia, followed by crushing reverses. Then the revolution, the Czar's abdication, and his captivity. All Russia was a hell. Nicholas and his family were carted off like slaves to Ekaterinburg.

The faithful Cossack, the Empress' lone attendant, never relaxes his guard.

The villa Hvidoere on the Danish coast. . . . Here the mother of the late Czar Nicholas lives. . . . Poor, broken in health, she keeps no court.

The Grand Duchess Olga, her husband, Colonel Kolikowski, and their two sons. . . . spend much time with the aged Dowager Empress, Olga's mother.

The Empress of Sorrows went to her palace at Yalta in the Crimea. Here she defied the Bolsheviks. Her anguished sister, Queen Mother Alexandra of England, said a British warship would be sent to take her away. But Marie Feodorovna refused to leave Russia. Her place was in her adopted country.

NEWs came that on the night of July 16, 1918, Nicholas and his entire family had been shot down by the Bolsheviks as if they were dogs. All the world believed the story. Only the Empress of Sorrows did not.

Even when General Wrangel got documentary proof, the Czar's mother refused to believe. She maintained then, and she maintains now, that her son still lives; that he is in hiding somewhere in a peasant hut in Siberia; that some day, when the time is ripe, he will emerge from his enforced obscurity and once more place himself at the head of the state.

At last, one day, yielding to the importunities of her relatives, the Dowager Empress decided to leave Russia and return to Denmark on the British warship placed at her disposal.

Before that time she had defied the insults of the Reds. She had seen her palace searched from garret to cellar time and time again.

On the morning she was to depart, she announced that before she left Russian soil she would say a prayer in the little church adjoining the harbor. The Grand Duke Nicholas Nikolaievitch, who accompanied her, informed her that this was quite impossible. The Reds had closed all the churches. If she attempted to force her way through the mob, she would surely be killed.

"I shall do as I say," replied the dauntless little figure. "If they have closed the churches, they must open this one. I desire to say a prayer in this church."

And now a strange and dramatic thing happened. The Grand Duke went to fetch the keys to the church. He handed them to her. Dressed in plain black, the frail little woman, with her face pale as if cut in marble, made her way through the crowd of Bolsheviks.

There was not a shout, not a jeer. Absolute silence. She unlocked the church door, went in, said her prayer. Then she came out. She stared at the people, who stared back. Then they made way for her. By sheer will power she had dominated them. That was her last sight of Russia.

SINCE then she has spent all her time in Denmark, with the exception of a brief visit in England several years ago to her sister, the late Queen Mother Alexandra. When returning from this trip, she slipped on the stairs and had a nasty fall. She sprained her ankle and bruised her side seriously, so that she was unable to move.

All during the return voyage to Denmark she lay in her bed. Her lady-in-waiting, Countess Zenaide Mengden, was therefore dumbfounded when, upon arrival at Copenhagen, the Empress rose from her berth, dressed, and went on deck to receive the deputation which had come to welcome her back to Denmark. As soon as the reception was over, the Empress, white as snow, collapsed.

By sheer force of will power she had managed to stand on her feet and show a smiling face until the deputation had left the ship.

Her next cup of sorrow broke her down physically. Two years ago her beloved sister, Queen Mother Alexandra of England, died. Since then Marie has been seen abroad very little.

She lives, for nine months of the year, at the summer villa of Hvidoere. It's a place of memories. For many years she shared it with Alexandra. Half the furniture belonged to each of the sisters, the two halves being exactly alike. Each chair, desk, and book-case was provided with the owner's monogram coronet.

AT Hvidoere she maintains no court. She is too poor. And she is too proud to accept monetary aid from her kinsmen, the Danish royal family. Her chief companion is her daughter, the Grand Duchess Olga, the youngest sister of the late Czar.

The Grand Duchess married Colonel Kolikowski, who was an officer in the Czar's imperial army. They have two sons, Guri and Tikhon. The Duchess and her husband are also poor, so the former army colonel now looks after the racing stables of the Danish-American millionaire, Gorm Rasmussen.

The Empress' only attendant is a faithful Cossack who followed her into exile and who almost constantly stands guard over her door. The household is of the simplest.

In the three coldest winter months she lives in Copenhagen in part of the palace of Amalienborg. She spends most of her time reclining in bed, because she is broken in body, if not in spirit. She still reads the papers, but sees very few people outside of a chosen few Russians, the Danish royal family, and her other daughter, Grand Duchess Xenia, who spends most of her time in England.

IN spite of the cold weather and the poor heating arrangements, she spent her last birthday, November 25, at Hvidoere. The Danes and many Russians desired to make her a handsome present to celebrate her eightieth anniversary, but she refused to take anything for herself. Instead, a fund of $10,000 was raised and turned over to her. She is using this sum to help poor Russian refugees in Denmark.

The flame of life in the old woman is low, but intensely bright. It is kept alive by a hope—the hope that Czar Nicholas still lives and will return to his heritage. Which explains why she will allow no prayers to be said in her household for the repose of the soul of her probably murdered son.

"Why say prayers for the dead?" she protests angrily. "Nicholas is alive, I tell you. If you wish to pray, pray for a regenerated Russia which will recognize its rightful ruler who is waiting for his people to come to their senses. Nicholas is alive, I tell you!"

Stoically, the Empress of Sorrows listened to what is probably the true story of the fate of Czar Nicholas, his Czarina and their family. But she still refuses to believe what each passing day seems to substantiate as the terrible truth.

It was on the night of July 16, 1918, that Nicholas and his family were awakened by a group of Bolsheviks and commanded to dress for a long journey. This when they were uncomfortable prisoners at Ekaterinburg, where the one-time powerful Czar of all the Russians spent his days at the plebeian task of splitting wood and nursing the very ill and very unhappy Czarina.

The story is that the Czar, carrying his wife in his arms, descended into a barren cellar in the front of the house where they were imprisoned. He asked for chairs for her and for his ailing son, and these were brought.

Then a door opened and twelve men assigned to the grim job of wiping out the chief members of the ruling House of Romanoff entered, revolvers in their hands. A volley of shots split the stillness, a few scattering shots to finish the job, and seven blood-stained bodies lay still in death. Nicholas, the Czarina, the Czarvitch and his four sisters were sacrificed to revolution.

Their bodies, so the Empress Marie Feodorovna was told as delicately as it is possible to tell such a story, were hastily piled into a motor truck and rushed through deserted streets deep into the nearby forests, where they were soaked with petroleum and burned. Two faithful attendants were reported to have been executed with them—one a humble peasant girl who was mistaken for a maid of honor.

Sometime later three valises belonging to the royal family, and repositories containing what is supposed to be their ashes, were found and turned over to the Grand Duke Nicholas. But the mother of the late Czar cannot believe her son is dead.

After all her sorrows, it is this blind, mad, unreasoning cup of hope that keeps her living and sane.

A YEAR or so ago when men talked of the tragic chances and changes of fortune in the lives of the great, they always spoke of the mad Empress Charlotte, who lived in strict seclusion in a little villa in Belgium. Empress Marie Feodorovna now takes her place, for death has ended the sufferings of Charlotte.

As a Belgian Princess, Charlotte married the brilliant, handsome Archduke Maximilian, brother of Emperor Franz Joseph of Austro-Hungary in the days of its glory and power. Assisted by French guns and French troops in the days when the United States was plunged in civil war and was too busy to bother with maintaining the Monroe Doctrine, Maximilian was made Emperor of Mexico.

When the Civil war was ended, the United States government at once ordered France to remove its troops from Mexican soil. This was promptly done and the Mexicans with equal promptitude assumed control of their country and made the "Emperor" their prisoner.

While the beautiful Charlotte was in Europe pleading with the Pope and various kings to help her husband, the Mexicans stood him up against a wall and shot him. His widow went mad, and for nearly 60 years she lingered on, always thinking he still reigned and always asking why he did not come for her.

In some aspects, the lot of the Empress of Sorrows is even more tragic, for Fate has aimed blow after blow at her heart and she has remained sane, drinking the cup of bitterness down to the dregs.

NEWPORT BEACH, March 6.—Protests against the construction of a pedestrian bridge across Pacific drive at Goldenrod avenue in Corona Del Mar were overruled by city councilmen here last night and work was ordered to proceed on the project. The bridge is to be a re-enforced concrete affair and will cost approximately $10,000.

Protests were entered by 22.3 per cent of the property owners in the assessment district, according to a report made by Paul Kressly, city engineer. Several objectors favored the installation of a vehicular bridge at the same time the foot bridge is built.

Leases Delayed

Action upon the leasing of several sections of tidelands was delayed upon the recommendation of the city planning commission. It was reported by the commission that the city planning expert, Gordon Whitthall, has not reached the property in his planning work. The leases were asked by King C. Gillette, Frank L. Matthews and C. L. Rodgers.

Widening Provided

The city ordinance was providing for the widening of Central avenue in Balboa from Alverado street to B street. The proceedings were abandoned some time ago to allow the city to secure advantage of a lower interest rate on bonds. The work on the street widening is over. City ordinance placing four special measures on the ballot in April were adopted by the council. The measures provide for a city manager form of government, a five cent tax for library purposes, a five cent tax for park purposes and for the decrease of the advertising tax from 15 cents to 10 cents on the $100 assessed valuation.

Two New Ordinances

Two new city ordinances, one creating the office of fire marshal and the other creating the office of electrical inspector, were read for the first time at the city council meeting last night. The fire marshal ordinance gives the fire chief power to seal and to order rubbish and other fire hazards eliminated and cleaned up. The adoption of the two ordinances will tend to decrease insurance.

Gun Law Repealed

The city ordinance regarding the shooting of guns in the city limits was ordered repealed and a new ordinance drawn. Chief of Police J. A. # $500 Bid On City Garbage Is Accepted

NEWPORT BEACH, March 6.—When C. E. Price and E. S. V. Pomeroy offered the city $500 for the garbage for one year at the city council meeting last night, Councilman Harry Williamson voiced his objections, declaring that the bid was too low.

Williamson pointed out that the city was delivering the garbage to the Price ranch at a cost of between $3000 and $4000 per year. He advocated that the matter be readvertised.

Price then reported that his contract with the city had expired more than a month previous and that there would be no more garbage collections.

Visions of overflowing garbage cans and protests of citizens rose before the councilmen. Price and Pomeroy were given the contract. They will care for the garbage for three years and will pay $600 per year for the last two years of the contract.

SAFETY FACTOR IN AVIATION IS TOLD IN TALK

FULLERTON, March 6.—The importance of developing and improving safety in commercial aviation was stressed in an address delivered by Dr. T. C. Young, of Glendale, a member of the public affairs committee of Kiwanis International, before the members of the Kiwanis club at the regular meeting at McFarland's cafe yesterday.

The speaker remarked on the advances made in aviation, particularly with reference to safety factors. He revealed that since 1923, 93 members of the Professional Pilots' association of Los Angeles have flown 10,000,000 miles without a single fatality, injury or crash of an individual plane.

Dr. Young is a member of the association, a regional director of the California Development association and an active worker for aviation. He has covered 180,000 miles in eight years of consecutive flying in Southern California.

Although Europe has encouraged aviation to a great extent, the United States development has been ever greater, the speaker said. American aviators covered 4,238,755 miles during 1927 while German aviators went 3,816,000 miles during the same length of time.

The speaker declared that there are now 840 accredited airports in the United States, with many more being installed. He congratulated Fullerton on its airport and declared that the Fullerton airport is on the route of the southern airway across the country and already on air maps.

State Conference of D. A. R. Is Reviewed In Detail

The charming home of Mrs. Charles F. Smith, 1717 North Broadway, was the meeting place of the American Revolution on Saturday afternoon when the program proved to be one of the most enjoyable of the season.

Interesting reports were given by three chairmen of committees, Mrs. Flora Eyle, general secretary; Mrs. John Tessmann, foreign relations, and Mrs. Charles F. Smith, better films.

Of primary interest were reports of the twentieth annual state conference held in Los Angeles, February 28 to March 2.

Eight members of Santa Ana chapter attended the conference on the opening day and at Saturday's meeting three of these gave complete accounts of the various events of the day.

Mrs. W. H. Harrison gave a vivid description of the setting of the conference sessions held in the theater of the Ambassador hotel where the walls were adorned by handsome silk flags hung in correctly formal manner and the platform graced by a profusion of beautiful flowers. Adding to the stately effect were attractive girls garbed in simple white crepe dresses, each standing behind the chair of an officer to act in the capacity of page. Reviewing the business of the Wednesday morning session, Mrs. Harrison made special reference to the report of Mrs. Alice Hill Hatch of this city. Mrs. Hatch is nearing the completion of her second term in the office of state director of the state executive board and as a member of Santa Ana chapter, her report naturally attracted the special interest of the other members of her chapter who were delighted when the state regent introduced her with a particularly high compliment.

Mrs. Edith Thatcher, regent of the local chapter, told of the luncheon on Wednesday with over 600 women in attendance and of the address of Mrs. Alfred J. Brosseau, president-general of the society, who came to California from Washington, D. C., for the express purpose of attending the state conference.

Mrs. E. M. Blake described a reception given by Mrs. J. H. Shreve, state regent, at which all delegates were greeted by the state officers and presented to the president-general.

When requested to tell something of the other days of the conference, Mrs. Hatch stated that each day had been crowded full, especially for the state officers who were honored guests at both luncheon and dinner every day of last week from Monday evening until Friday afternoon. After briefly reviewing an address on the subject of the immigration problem in our country, Mrs. Hatch told of the speeches and introductions made on the evening of a gala performance of the Mission play, described the planting of a redwood tree on the new campus of the state university at Los Angeles and spoke of the election of new state officers for the D. A. R.

Speaking in warm praise of Mrs. Theodore Hoover and Mrs. Emmett Wilson, newly elected state regent and vice regent, Mrs. Hatch displayed pictures of the two women who will assume charge of the state organization after April 24 and who will be assisted by an entirely new corps of state officers.

Completing the program of the afternoon Mrs. Nicholas Ricciardi, who has charge of the Americanization work in our schools, was introduced and gave an interesting and enlightening talk on her work among the foreign speaking people in the schools of Santa Ana.

Mrs. Ricciardi reviewed the work from its beginning by the D. A. R. among the Mexicans. From that small beginning the work has grown to its present proportions.

The school board now employs teachers who conduct classes among the Mexican women, teaching them to sew, keep house as Americans do, care for their children, and learn the English language.

Night classes are held three nights a week for both men and women and people from many foreign lands are in attendance.

Candidates for citizenship may study the constitution of the United States and other subjects which are required when they make application for naturalization papers.

The chapter voted a generous sum to assist Mrs. Ricciardi in furnishing the cottage into which the department has moved its headquarters. The Prink apartment on West Fifth street is no longer adequate for its work.

A social hour followed at which time Mrs. Smith and her hostess committee, Mesdames Edith Thatcher, W. L. Deining, L. M. Forney, J. H. Nicholson, L. L. Whitson and D. K. Hammond served most delightful refreshments.

Photographic Honor Is Accorded Santa Ana Artist

Leaving today for Los Angeles, Robert A. Quail, Register staff photographer, was to be guest of honor tonight at a dinner to be given at the Ambassador by the International Pictorialists in recognition of his having taken first place at the Royal Salon, London, England.

The year's exhibit at the Salon, was of 30 prints selected from some 20,000 sent in by photographic artists from all over the world. Of the 30 selected by the group of judges, final choice was made by King George and Queen Mary of England, and the Prince of Wales.

Although the Santa Ana artist has not yet received formal announcement of the honor bestowed upon him, the news was cabled at once to the Eastman people, and that firm notified him. The honor is the highest that can be bestowed in the photographic world, exceeding even that of the London Salon, which Mr. Quail won in 1914. It carries with it a trip to England, and a month's stay there, although the Santa Ana is not yet certain whether he will avail himself of the opportunity at this time.

Tonight's dinner hosts, the International Pictorialists, (an outgrowth of the American Pictorialists) have requested that their honor guest bring a copy of the picture that won him so enviable a distinction. It is a study of dawn lights and shadows, with small fishing vessels moored on the bay, their masts reflected in the waters, and was taken on Newport bay last fall.

Hackett-Granville Is To Present Concert Friday Night

This is an important week in Ebell history, for Friday night will bring the second number of the Ebell concert course, Arthur Hackett-Granville, great American tenor, who will be presented in a recital at the high school auditorium, beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

Mr. Hackett-Granville will arrive in Santa Ana Friday afternoon, and will be accompanied from Los Angeles by Miss Ruth Cowan, Impresaria who is arranging his west coast concerts.

While the singer is an American product, he has had a world of valuable and interesting experience abroad, where he scored a noteworthy success. Possibly the greatest honor came to him when he was chosen by Dame Nellie Melba, to share her program on her "farewell tour" of the British Isles. This honor came to him following his appearance with the Paris Opera. He left for Paris in 1924, to sing at the Opera, and was so well received that his stay lengthened to two and a half years.

His engagements on the Pacific coast at this time, mark his second western tour within fifteen months. In December, 1926, he appeared in a limited number of presentations of "The Messiah" with the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, in the northern city, under Alfred Hertz. That engagement opened with the gala Christmas performance of the famous oratorio.

Reserved seats for the Santa Ana appearance of the tenor, may now be obtained at the Santa Ana book store.

County Federation of Clubwomen, Convenes In "Our Village"

Meeting yesterday in Laguna Beach, for a general discussion of club problems, members of the executive board of the county Federation of Women's clubs, held an all-day session under the leadership of Mrs. Albert Launer, of Anaheim, county president.

A report of the commission appointed by the state president, Mrs. W. W. Green of Sacramento, to revise the by-laws of the state federation was heard. The matter of particular interest to the board was the tentative proposal to equalize the representation of the clubs throughout the state. By the measure suggested by the commission, the smaller clubs would be more equally represented in proportion to their membership.

A paper was presented by the county chairman of art, Mrs. Ida Randall Bowles, of Laguna Beach. Mrs. Bowles spoke of art from the viewpoint of the artist. Several of her pictures are hung in the art gallery.

Mrs. Leon Des Lages of Orange, county chairman of music, sang a group of songs with Mrs. W. A. Martin, of Orange as her accompanist at both morning and afternoon sessions. Mrs. Martin gave two violin solos during the morning hours.

Luncheon was served in the Laguna Beach clubhouse. This interesting building has been remodeled from an old Spanish farm house. The afternoon session convened in the clubhouse. A talk was given by Mrs. T. R. Fleming of Long Beach, on Japanese block printing. Mrs. Fleming has a fine collection of Japanese prints which she exhibited to the clubwomen.

About 50 or 60 clubwomen from various towns in the county were present.

Thirteenth Birthday Is Celebrated at Gay Party

While every birthday of young Lucian Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wilson, 707 West Third street, is a happy one, especially since he is privileged to share the anniversary with his mother, yet every alternate year brings its own special joys, for the old days are celebrated with parties.

In accordance with this custom, Lucian's thirteenth birthday was happily celebrated yesterday, when Mrs. Wilson asked a group of his close companions to share the evening. Since St. Patrick's day is approaching, she chose a vivid green color scheme, which was particularly effective at the supper hour.

But that hour was preceded by a series of lively games some engineered by Mrs. Wilson, others introduced by the youngsters themselves. All gave them a keen appetite for the ice cream, cake, cookies and candy served at a table centered with a green and white basket of flowers surrounded by green candy snakes. Favors at each place were amusing "goofy birds."

Lucian was presented with many pretty gifts by his young guests, who were Alice Martin, Helen Wiebe, Dorothy Preble, Vivian Martin, Gale Hartley, Don Parks, Jack Preston, Richard White, Allan Kidder and Leo Scarfinski. To add to the pleasure of the evening, was the presence of Lucian's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Augur of Long Beach.

Although the honor guest knew of the party the fact that each member had brought a dainty apron for her was a complete surprise when she was called to the door late in the evening and presented with the many interesting packages.

A number of entertaining games were played throughout the evening and in the contest which was enjoyed, Miss Harriet Wollaston was acclaimed the victor.

Refreshments carrying out the motif expressed in the many gay spring flowers throughout the home were served by the hostess.

DINNER—Chicken pie, grilled sweet potatoes, French endive and kumquat salad, fresh rhubarb pie, milk, coffee.

Chicken Pie

One four or five-pound fowl, 3 hard cooked eggs, 1-2 pound mushrooms, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter, English pastry.

Clean and cut up chicken for serving. Cook in boiling water to cover until tender. When about half done add 1 teaspoon salt. When tender remove from broth and reduce stock to three cups. Strain, cool and remove fat. Sauté mushrooms in butter for ten minutes. Cover bottom of baking dish with slices of hard cooked eggs. Add a layer of prepared mushrooms and cover with pieces of chicken. The neck, backbone and wings should be used in some other way. Continue layer for layer of eggs, mushrooms and chicken until all is used. Stir flour to a smooth paste with a little cold milk and stir into reheated chicken broth. Bring to the boiling point and pour over contents of baking dish, cover with pastry and bake about 50 minutes.

To make pastry, sift 3 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt. Rub in 1 cup shortening. Melt 1-2 cup shortening in 3-4 cup hot water. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice and yolk of 1 egg. Slowly add to flour mixture, cutting in with a knife. Knead two or three minutes on a slightly floured molding board. Roll into a sheet to fit the top of the baking dish, making the dough about 1-2 inch thick. Cut two 2-inch gashes at right angles to each other in the center of the crust and fit over chicken mixture in baking dish.

The shower of rubber balls was queer, and Scouty shouted out, "Oh, dear! let's hide beneath this rubber tree so we will not be hit. Some rubber balls are large, some small, and it is hard to dodge them all. I'd like to try and catch one, but I have no catcher's mitt."

So, underneath the tree they dropped to wait until the odd shower stopped. "That is the queerest sight I've seen," said Carpy, with a grin. "At first it filled me with alarm, but now it seems we're safe from harm." Just then a rubber ball bounced up and hit him on the chin.

"Ha, ha," laughed Clowny, "what a treat. The way that hit you sure was neat. I'll bet it did not hurt, although your chin is getting red." "Of course it didn't," Carpy cried. Then, in a moment, Clowny sighed, "Oh, ouch!" A rubber ball had dropped and bounced right off his head.

"Why, they are soft as they can be," said Clowny, "why be scared? Aw, gee, let's run right into the storm. It will be heaps of fun." So out the little Tynmites hopped. Then Scouty cried, "The storm has stopped. Let's look around so we can see what damage it has done."

Of course they found no harm at all. And soon the bunch heard Clowny call. "Hey, watch me for a minute. I am going to do a trick. At least, I'll try. Perhaps I'll miss. Can all of you do tricks like this? Just have a little patience. This is going to be real slick." He hopped upon a rubber ball, and Copy cried, "Look out, you'll fall!" Oh, no, I won't," snapped Clowny. "I can walk this all around." That's what he did for quite a spell, and then he caused the bunch to smile. Poor Clowny lost his balance and soon landed on the ground.

(The Tynmites visit a rubber house in the next story).

Beauty Chats

By ANN ALYSIS

The square face generally belongs to people of considerable strength of character and in men is very much admired, though this same quality, if shown too markedly, does not inspire admiration if the face happens to belong to a woman. The appearance of strength, coupled with severity, as it usually is, does not add to the loveliness which is woman's allure.

To judge the shape of a face, it must be observed from the front. In the typical square face, the lines from the cheek bones downward are parallel, they neither converge. The line of the jaw is straight and well defined. Such a face is usually very severe in its expression. Generally the forehead is square, and this adds to the general severity.

A woman who is of this type should bring art to her rescue to modify the rigidity of her facial outlines. This she may do by studying for herself an exceedingly soft and curving arrangement of her hair. She should draw it from her forehead in the loosest possible manner, and should cultivate the large and undulating wave.

Care must be taken in designing the neckline of her dresses. This should never be square but triangular, or still better, round or oval. In short, every effort should be made to get as far as possible away from the straight line at the neck and in style of hair dressing.

EAT THE THEATER

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

Never have George Sidney and Charlie Murray been funnier than in "Flying Romeos," current attraction at the Yost Broadway.

If you can imagine George and Charlie inadvertently becoming aviators when they don't know any more about flying than they do about the fourth dimension, starting on an airplane flight to China only to discover that their "pilot" knows less about it than they do and is somewhat off his head in addition, you have one of the situations—just one of them—which provokes comedy in this hilarious farce.

WEST END THEATER

In simple, human manner "Once and Forever," now at the West End, tells the story of a boy and a girl, living on a small French island who have plighted their troth, he the nephew of a rich man, she an orphan girl who despite her poverty was richly endowed with charm and beauty and a prize cow. It was the coveting of the cow by a gossiping villager that brought to the girl the many heartaches that for a time lost her the handsome boy lover. The coming of the war, the leave taking of the lovers, a heart-compelling piece of acting, and the girl's banishment from her home through the poisonous gossip, her struggles in Paris and the eventual meeting of the boy and girl, rounded out the film.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Versatility is Richard Dix's middle name.

At least it ought to be. For almost a year, he has played in nothing except heavy dramatic and melodramatic roles. Now he makes an about-face and gives us a hilarious farce.

The new picture is "Sporting Goods," which closes tonight at the West Coast-Walker theater.

For this picture is funny. There are funny characterizations, and funny situations, and funny "gags," all performed by a capable cast.

HAWAII JAPANESE ARE GIVEN PRAISE

HONOLULU, T. H., March 6.—Bright futures for American citizens of Japanese ancestry are predicted by Governor Wallace R. Farrington and Judge E. C. Peters, former attorney general of Hawaii, in interviews published in the current numbers of the Jitsugyono-Hawaii.

"American citizens of Japanese ancestry are a part of the American community," Governor Farrington says. "They were born here, educated in our public schools, developed in our American institutions and are moving forward along American lines as are all other boys and girls. There is no racial line drawn against them in the community. They have a wealth of opportunity before them."

Judge Peters, who, as deputy attorney general and later as attorney general of Hawaii, has had a great deal of experience with criminals, was asked by the Jitsugyono-Hawaii to state whether there was an increase or decrease of criminal cases among the Japanese.

"There has been a decided decrease in criminals among the Japanese people," Judge Peters replied. "This results from education and from the influence of Japanese newspapers which have been educating the older generation."

"The Japanese people who came to Hawaii as laborers had great difficulties among themselves. When they were in trouble they used to fight each other to settle their difficulties. Consequently they were brought before the courts. In my contact with them

I have never known of a case in which a Japanese fought with a person of another nationality."

Unmarried Men Held Lawbreakers

CLEVELAND, O., March 5.—More laws are broken here by unmarried native born youths between the age of 18 and 21 than by men of any other age, according to Bruce Boutall, superintendent of the criminal record bureau of common pleas court.

"Young men of this type were arrested a greater number of times during 1927 than any other type," said Boutall, "and the same has been true for several years back."

"However, although these boys break more laws and are arrested more times, the majority of murders are committed by married men about 24 years old."

In a recent survey at several penitentiaries where electrocution is the supreme penalty, it was found the largest percentage of men put to death were either 24 or 25 years of age.

AT THE REQUEST OF RUM NEBS, JUDGE MORRIS HAS SENT FOR ROCKEY FLINT. FLINT WILL SEE IF THE JUDGE, WHO WAS ELECTED THROUGH FLINT'S EFFORTS, HAS ANY SUCCESS FINDING OUT THE REASON OF ROCKEY'S VISIT TO PLANO AT THE TIME OF THE BANK ROBBERY.

1 WONDER WHAT JUDGE NIBLICK WANTS OF ME? HE ASKED ME TO COME OVER.

FLINT, IT LOOKS BAD FOR YOU AND IF YOU DON'T HAVE A GOOD REASON FOR GOING TO PLANO, IT'S ALMOST A CERTAINTY YOU'LL BE CONVICTED. TELL ME THE REASON.

I CAN'T TELL, JUDGE, I JUST CAN'T.

CAN THERE BE ANYTHING SO SACRED THAT IT WILL COST YOU YOUR LIBERTY? I CAN'T TRY YOUR CASE BUT IF YOU CONFIDE IN ME I'LL ARRANGE IT FOR YOU. COME ON—TELL ME.

JUDGE, I'LL TELL YOU IF YOU PROMISE THAT IT WILL BE OUR SECRET AND NO ONE ELSE IN THIS WHOLE WORLD—I WOULDN'T MAKE IT PUBLIC IF I ROTTED IN JAIL.

CHARACTER BUILDING AND COLLEGES

From college and university critics there comes the charge, from time to time, that the schools of higher learning no longer develop character as they used to do. Some have even gone so far as to say that nowhere in some institutions is the student taught loyalty, conscientiousness, and vision. Many criticisms are half or two-thirds exaggeration. In answer to this particular charge those closer to the schools, as for example, Dr. H. N. MacCracken, president of Vassar college, says that there is a full-time course in every school and college which is devoted to character building.

The method of teaching character in colleges is a controversy for the scholars. Parents have only to choose the type of college for their children. There are all types. There are those where "prexy's ethics" are still taught in the old-fashioned way, which may be the best way; there are those institutions where the teaching of character and ethics is so subtle a matter as not to be discernible with a microscope.

But if a parent has taken his responsibilities seriously enough to emphasize character development up to college years he need not be too concerned over selecting the institution of higher training to which to send his child.

It is possible that the type of institution matters less today than it ever has, as far as the teaching of such qualities as loyalty, honesty, conscientiousness and vision are concerned. It matters less because the young people going to college, for all that they appear less sedate and more reckless, we suspect are less plastic and susceptible to character teaching at that age than was the generation before, who were comparatively "green" when they went to college. Their backgrounds were small villages and farms or guarded lives in the metropolises of the country where the walls of their homes and the walls of the schoolroom had confined them rather completely until they made that first adventurous journey a few miles away on a train, accompanied by father or mother or both, to matriculate.

They had not had extensive dance hall and automobile riding experience, they had not read anything and everything, they had not heard everything and anything over the radio and seen it in the movies. They were not already at that age rather jaded and searching for new experiences. There is plenty of evidence at hand today to make us believe that character is more completely established by the college age than hitherto and the situation today is that the young student absorbs just about what his earlier training in the home and the grammar and high school has disposed him to absorb.

Those who are open to new vision of a better world and greater and finer leadership and ideals will expose themselves to such teaching when they are in college and the universities and those who are not will escape it quite completely for they seem diabolically clever at eluding such exposure. The years up to the college age are fully as important as they ever were and much, much more strenuous.

THE MARCH OF THE ARM CHAIR LUNCH

The old-fashioned restaurant, in which a man sits down at a table, takes up his bill of fare, gives his order and with a glass of water before him waits with patience until the waiter returns from the hidden secrets of a distant kitchen, is sharing the business of feeling the encroachment of the quick lunch counters and cafeterias.

One of the oldest, and at one time one of the most busy and prosperous restaurants in Boston has closed its doors, and gone into bankruptcy. Marston's in Boston is where the great-grandfathers and great-grandmothers and fathers and mothers ate. It was known to every shopper and every business man. During the busy hours it was difficult to get a table. The famous apple dumpling and clam chowder has passed, and Boston has lost another of its ancient landmarks.

The march of the arm-chair lunch and the cafeteria has driven the old-fashioned restaurant of the time-consuming as well as food-consuming meal into an exclusive field. We have become a very busy people, and we no longer have time to sit down and wait while our eggs are being cooked and our steak is being broiled. To be sure there is a place still for the first class eating emporium with the table cloth and waiter for there are many who have leisure and all of us have leisure on certain days when we enjoy the luxury of simply going into a restaurant, taking our seat at a table with immaculate linen, and letting the waiter do the rest. But there is bound to be fewer of them and this kind has to be the best for the hot-dog road stand and all the other quick lunch places are sweeping the field. It all marks the sweep of our American civilization, and the foreigner visiting us wonders whether the American will ever come to appreciate the meaning of leisure and social intercourse as they express themselves in their cafes and eating houses and inns.

AMERICANS STILL USE LEGS

We can imagine that some of the people on the other side of the sea will read with astonishment that a foot race is being staged in which there have been so many participants and the route across the American continent. Articles have appeared in magazines and newspapers abroad emphasizing that everyone owns an automobile in America, that eighty-five per cent of all the automobiles that are manufactured in the world are used here and that the Americans were losing entirely the use of their feet and legs. If any of them have concluded that this applied to all it certainly will surprise them to think how quickly the use was attained again when they read of men who for sustained running make a record of eight miles an hour.

We doubt seriously if this marathon will make walking popular and it may be that long before the journey's end is in sight that very few of those now participating will be in the running, yet this event is likely to stimulate interest in the power of man's own locomotion.

There is another significant trend in relation to the automobile. The uses are somewhat changing. The time was, and possibly is in the experience of everyone who owns a car for the first time, when every leisure moment they felt must be spent in the car. But as the years have passed this changes and there is a larger percentage of the people who now can leave their car in the garage and take walks for enjoyment and other exercise. Car riding is for them a means of travel to reach their destination rather than a source of enjoyment in itself. This trans-continental race may help emphasize this idea.

OUR NATIVE LAND

Again the people of the great valley are entranced and delighted at the glorious spectacle which greets us on the north, the mountains on the north shining in the sun marvelously capped with a great mantle of snow.

It must have been something like this which incited the psalmist to sing "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills from which cometh my strength."

Are we not all stronger in spirit and more ready to meet the labors of the day as we lift up our eyes from the wonderful bounty and prosperity of the plain to the beautiful handiwork of the creator and builder of the Universe?

It is not only the sunshine and the fertility of the land nor wholly the opportunities for material gain which draws the world to Southern California, but the beauty and majesty of nature which enthalls and holds the spirit of the visitor and brings him back as a permanent resident and makes him sing:

"Lives there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said
This is my own native land."

BOVINE GOLD MINES

As a boy we often wondered why butter was yellow. We could understand it in the winter time when we saw it made and knew that coloring matter was placed in the cream. But in the summer we could not understand how it was that a black cow could eat green grass, and give white milk which would produce yellow butter.

But now comes the news from Salem, Oregon that the cows there are found to have gold teeth, or at least coated with gold.

We wonder if they have examined cow's teeth very much. It may be that all of them are covered with gold. Maybe this is where the yellow comes from in the butter.

We were told the other day by a dairyman that his cows were a gold mine. We are wondering now if there is some peculiar significance in this. But impossible. They couldn't continue to grow teeth after they had extracted them. No, the rear end of the cow will probably continue to be the end from which the gold is "extracted."

NO HELP TO AVIATION

Five men were killed when an airplane which had been ordered not to fly by the Air Control Board because of not being air-worthy plunged to the earth near San Diego the other day. Three of the five men who were killed leave widows and one of the three also leaves a three-and-a-half year old daughter.

While Colonel Lindbergh is spending himself and laboring unstintingly for the progress of aviation, other people with nerve and no sense of responsibility for their loved ones or aviation take chances and the result is a tragedy which hurts public confidence in aviation which Lindbergh and others have been months building up.

THE ENTERTAINMENT

This is the time to start preparing the program of entertainment for graduation in June, if you have not already done so. Make a term study of it so that when the day comes everybody is ready, the last stitch in the costume fastened, the dress rehearsal perfect. Then you will go into the great hall, face the expectant audience with a thrill of confidence that will inspire the children to do their best.

What happens, in many cases, is something like this: The teacher in charge of the program has other things to do. In the back of her mind, hidden behind reviews and drills and examination papers and regents, is the thought that something has to be found for graduation. Have to think that over. Too little time last time. Dreadful strain. Really must start earlier!

But the work piles up and the program is not prepared until a few days before it is to be put on. Now everything is a rush and a confusion. Everybody wants to see the teacher at the same time, everybody talks at the same time. "My mother says she can't get me a costume in time so I can't be in it." "Miss Helen, can I change over with Ruth? My part is too long for me." "O, Miss Helen, did you hear it? Tom's broke his collar bone. What'll we do the king?"

Rehearsals are a nightmare. "Where'll we go, Miss Helen? No, we can't go in the gym. The gym is full. The chorus is practicing. We can't have the piano now. The boy that's to play the violin has to rehearse I can't stay any longer. My mother wants me."

Nearer and nearer comes the day and the strain is worse and worse. The leading lady gets a cold in her head. The king's collar bone refuses to knit and the understudy is truly awful. He won't learn his lines. The costume man doesn't seem to know whether he can produce the wings for the hour set. Two or three of the important speeches are very wobbly. It takes time to familiarize a child with a set speech in the best of plays.

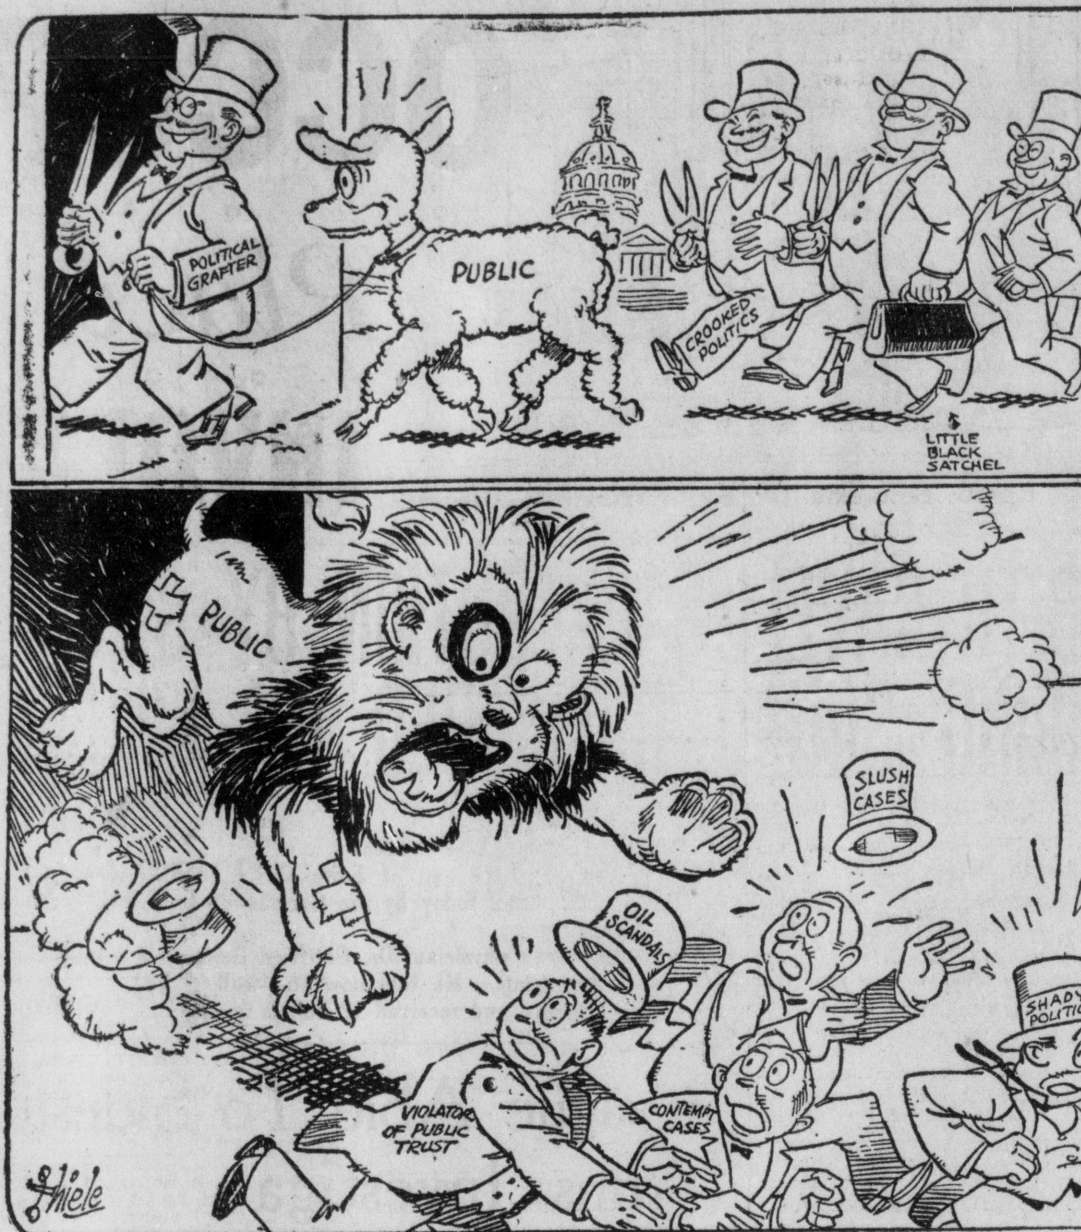

The hour strikes and the play must go on, the pageant must start. There's nothing to be done but shiver in the wings. There. He made the same mistake. Goodness, she left out the essential part of the speech. WHY does that child stand right in the place where the king has to kneel? If ever I have a pageant or a play to do again, I'll begin the year before.

Let's hope so. The poor child who has been asked to memorize a part in a week, and appear before a great audience of grownup people, with a few delirious rehearsals, is to my way of thinking, sadly imposed upon. She and he, oftener she, is made to appear very timid, rather backward, halting in speech, uncertain of gesture and gains a reputation of being "not so good." That is very unjust.

Make the term and entertainment a term activity. Study it day by day until it is part of daily living. Then you can come before the people with a finished work of art, serene in spirit knowing that the children are going to have the time of their lives in putting their play before their friends. Give them a chance.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

A LONG CHANCE

I have never disputed that knowledge is power;
I've esteemed since my earliest youth
The men who improved every bright shining hour,
In a hunt for absolute truth.
I know it is foolish to place one's reliance
Upon what is believed to be fact
And that nothing can possibly satisfy science,
Unless it is fully exact.

I'm aware that savants of profound erudition
Admit they are still in the dark
Regarding the old and untested tradition,
That deals with the ways of the shark.
One school says the gray shark is gentle and kindly
As the seals that one sees in the zoo
And will not attack persons, blood thirsting and blindly
As his brother, the white shark will do.

To me this discussion is foolish and futile;
I seldom wade far from the beach,
For I think that all sharks are rapacious and brutal
And will bite any man they can reach.
But a scientist now has declared his intention
Among these fierce creatures to swim
And thus put an end to a bitter contention
When he's proved that gray sharks won't bite him.

As I said at the start, I have high admiration
For the labor that science has done;
It has placed a deep debt upon civilization
For the manifold triumphs it's won.
But I set little store upon bidded defiance
To these monsters that roam in the foam,
And I'm calmly convinced that his brothers in science
Should keep this young person at home!

AN ADVANTAGE

You can hear campaign speeches now in your home. But happily there is no compulsion about it.

THE DANGER OF OVER-POPULATION

A Wisconsin professor is out with the prediction that pretty soon this old world will be over-populated.
There will be standing room only and not near enough food to go around.

This he figures out by statistics of the rate of progress in human fecundity.

This alarm is not new. Some years ago a man by the name of Malthus announced some such law and declared that unless something was done pretty soon there would be too many people on earth.

Henry George and others neatly punctured the Malthusian theory. Nothing like what Malthus predicted took place, for facts have a way of upsetting theories.
The trouble is that statistics are valuable only up to a certain point. At that point the law of diminishing returns begins to operate.

The Medici, the Fuggers and others were very rich men in their day. All you have to do is take a pencil and paper and figure out how their fortunes should have increased. By this time they should have owned the whole planet and several adjoining stars. The only trouble was they didn't. Something happened.

Riches can only accumulate up to a certain point. Then they begin to dissolve in one way or another.

In the same way, if the laws of health permit a man to live seventy years, why shouldn't he live one hundred and seventy?

The only trouble is he doesn't. Somewhere the law of diminishing returns begins to operate.

It is like the man who taught his horse to eat shavings by putting green goggles on him. It worked all right. The only trouble was that about the time he learned to eat shavings he had to die and spoil the experiment.

Somewhere and somehow Mr. Professor's statistics are going to bump into the law of diminishing returns.

Whatever we are, nature has secret ways of taking care of herself.

Will some juggler of statistics or some learned professor please tell us how it happens that about so many men and so many women are born each year, how the ratio of the sexes keeps about the same, and tell us why the enormous destruction of war does not seem to alter the ratio?

It looks as if whoever planned this universe in the first place is seeing to it that the human race is going to go on as long as he wants it to.

We might smash into a comet any day, or we might have an earthquake that would blow us all to smithereens or any one of a dozen things might happen. We are all gambling on the probabilities that things will go on about as they are. Nobody knows.

CURRENT COMMENT

By CHESTER H. ROWELL

THE lunatic who was going to "hop off" for Venus in a rocket, said he would take along only one sandwich for food. That was more than enough. If he could really get off the earth at a speed and to a distance which would constitute even a start toward Venus, he would be dead long before he could eat one sandwich. Interplanetary travel may not be impossible, in the ultimate future, but if it ever happens it will be by the discovery of some new forces, of whose existence there is now not even a hint.

WE ARE so used to miracles that we become credulous. Thus the feeblest motor, which got advertised by Lindbergh looking at it a moment, has been on the front page ever since. And of course he would be rash who would say that the thing is absolutely impossible. It is merely impossible with any forces, working by any laws, now known. It is therefore theoretically admissible that this inventor might have discovered some new forces or laws, as has happened before. But, if so, it can at least be said with certainty that he has given no credible evidence of having done so. He has described his process, in terms which mean nothing, and he has demonstrated his motor by showing it to an army officer whose knowledge of electricity is confined to what he learned in his first year at West Point, and to a businessman who does not know even that. When a man makes a real discovery, he is capable of showing it to competent experts, so that they will know.

Don't be credulous of any claims which refuse this test.

A CHURCH in Lancaster, Ohio, as a part of a Lenten service, set relays of readers to read aloud the entire text of the New Testament. It took them nearly 15 hours. Doubtless the text would have been edifying, if anybody had listened, even if the performance was not. But one cannot help wondering what the reader thought to whom chance assigned Matthew VI, 7: "But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do; for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking." There are heathen as well as Christians ways of regarding the Bible. If we must make a fetish of its text, why not profit by the labor-saving of the Tibetans, who attach texts to a wheel, and then rotate it by wind or water power, thus repeating a whole series of prayers at each revolution, while personally going about their other affairs?

THE discovery of the richest diamond field in the world is reported from South Africa, with the gems lying on the surface waiting to be picked up. But don't anticipate a slump on the diamond market. The trust will see to that.

It would be interesting to speculate what would happen, if a mountain of diamonds were discovered somewhere. Nearly that did happen to carborundum, which was a valuable abrasive at a carat. Now it is a more useful one, at a few dol-lars a ton.

TOLERANCE FOR DISSENTERS

Today I paint a little more of the picture of the ideal citizen, as I see him, by discussing the seventh of eleven attitudes I think he must take—a tolerant attitude toward opinion.

Freedom of speech, press and assembly is one of the rights written into the basic document of the American government.

It has sometimes had hard sledding at the hands of Americans who have made a profession of their patriotism.

Periodically we slump into a mood that prompts us to think that we are protecting our democracy when we gag our dissenters.

Tolerance of dissenters is, in my judgment, an essential ingredient of good Americanism.

The ideal citizen will defend the rights of men whose views he may despise.

The ideal citizen does not think that truth is a fragile flower that must be glassed in.

The ideal citizen thinks that truth is a gladiator that asks no more than fair play with error in the arena.

The ideal citizen knows that most of the ideas we now think safe and sane were once derided as unsafe and insane.

He knows that the orthodoxies of today were the heresies of yesterday.

He agrees with Bernard Shaw, who said:

"One of the main objects of education is to prevent people from defeating their own civilization by refusing to tolerate novelties and heresies which history proves that they had better tolerate."

The ideal citizen is, therefore, skeptical of censors.

He believes that censors are more difficult to control than revolutionists.

The sins of the revolutionist are spasmodic and shocking.

The sins of the censor are cumulative and subtle.

The ideal citizen knows that there is enough inertia, enough resistance to change, in the American people to justify confidence in orderly progress without a suppression of the rights of dissenters.
